Say Underground Party Planned, Led Monday's Uprising

BULLETIN

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar said in a speech prepared for delivery today Portugal "will surely be among the first countries to leave the United Nations organization."

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — The Portuguese Army Ministry today accused the underground Communist party of planning and leading the unsuccessful New Year's Day attempt to launch a revolt against Premier Antonio Salazar's regime.

"According to information and statements already collected from some participants in the Beja attempt at sedition, the conclusion is that it was an action planned and led by the Communist party, within a general plan of promoting unrest in Portugal," the communique said.

The communique said no other unrest or violence was reported from other military establishments.

At least 16 rebels who took part in the revolt attempt were still at large and the government pressed a hunt for them.

Authorities claimed only about 40 men took part in the attempt to seize the army garrison at Beja early Monday. Officials clamped tight security measures on known avenues of escape along the Spanish frontier in efforts ro round up remnants of the gang. All police and military units remained in a "state of precaution."

The government said two insurgents were killed and 22 captured —including the two leaders of the band—in the uprising which collapsed after a three-hour gun battle with troops of the 3rd Infantry Regiment stationed in the Beja barracks.

Thousands of persons lined a 75-mile funeral route Tuesday as a cortege bearing the body of Lt. Col. Jaime Filipe da Fonseca, the army undersecretary, moved from Lisbon to Fonseca's home town of Leiria for burial.

Fonseca rushed to Beja after hearing of the revolt and was shot when he walked into the barracks and demanded that the rebels surrender.

They are Bruce E. Smith, 23, of 200 Carolina Ave., Maplewood, apparently the driver, and Ronald Davis, also 23, of E. 4th and Walnut Sts.

Both men suffered facial lacerations and Davis also apparently has a chest injury, according to attendants at City Hospital, where they were being treated and scheduled to be admitted.

McElroy's Aide Seeks New Ruling

Appellate Bench To Hear Case March 6 While In County

LISBON — Assistant Ohio Attorney General John Gleason today filed an appeal with the 7th District Court of Appeals on Judge Joel H. Sharp's Dec. 14 dismissal of indictments against officers of the Lisbon Salesbook Co. on grounds the new Ohio law is unconstitutional.

Gleason, acting through Prosecutor G. William Brokaw's office, filed the notice of appeal with the Clerk of Courts office, thus implementing Attorney General Mark McElroy's declaration last month that he would take the case to a higher court.

Judge Sharp had ruled out the indictments under the law, which went into effect Sept. 1, declaring the law against printing gambling slips does not take into consideration intention or knowledge by manufacturers of the use to which the printed forms are to be put.

The judge noted the legislature had inserted the words "manufacturing" and "printing" in the law aimed at numbers operations.

McElroy and Gleason headed the raid against the salesbook firm Sept. 6 which resulted in indictments against Martin Sufrin, president; Isadore Sufrin, vice president, Joseph Sufrin, secretary - treasurer, and Michael Scheidlemeire, general manager, all of Pittsburgh.

Gleason had brought the notice of appeal to Lisbon Dec. 29, but was unable to file it at that time because the judge's docket entry on the Dec. 14 ruling had not been signed.

The appeal is to be sent to the appellate court office at Youngstown, and officials indicated it is hoped the appeal can be added to cases to be heard at the appellate court session here March 6.

Judge Sharp's opinion regarding the knowledge of the manufacturer of the use of the printed forms had been a basis of an argument by Atty. William Moore of Lisbon, counsel for the Sufrins, at an earlier demurrer filing.

Atty. Moore had pointed out a pencil manufacturing firm could be cited under the law because it would be making "a device used in writing numbers."

The Sufrins contended they were operating a legitimate business of printing sales slips for retail firms.

McElroy said following the September raid that the firm was a major supplier of numbers slips for the Eastern Seaboard.

Kennedy, Top Defense Aides Sift Strategy

Analyze Challenges That May Face U.S. Forces This Year

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President Kennedy and the nation's defense officials, civilian and military, today analyzed challenges that may face U.S. armed forces this year.

Kennedy called the Joint Chiefs of Staff from Washington to join preparedness discussions that began Tuesday in the spacious living room of the beachfront estate where he has been spending the Christmas-New Year's holidays.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said the conferences would explore "the operational and strategic outlook for 1962."

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, Deputy Secretary Roswell L. Gilpatric and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Kennedy's personal military adviser, already were on hand.

At the start of the defense survey Kennedy went over the entire Army structure with Johnson, McNamara, Gilpatric and Taylor.

They reportedly are trying to hit on a more efficient combat organization, one which would embrace the regulars, the National Guard divisions and the reserves.

Placing five additional divisions in combat-ready status is part of Kennedy's program for building up the armed forces.

It was announced that Kennedy would visit Mexico some time this year. It was believed he will make the trip within the first six months of 1962, probably in the spring.

Kennedy passed up his customary cruise on the presidential yacht Honey Fitz but Salinger said he was thinking of taking the defense officials for a cruise today on Lake Worth.

Kennedy Due In Columbus On Saturday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—President Kennedy will be in Columbus a little more than four hours Saturday for his appearance at Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's birthday dinner, his unofficial and tentative schedule indicated today.

Miss Mildred Cunningham, the governor's personal secretary, said the best information available now is that the President will arrive in Columbus from Palm Beach by jet between 5:30 and 6 p.m. Saturday.

Present plans call for him to go to the Governor's Mansion briefly, then go to the Buckeye Building on the Ohio State Fairgrounds about 7 p.m. He is scheduled to address the $100-a-plate dinner gathering about 8:30 p.m. The President plans to leave Columbus after the program.

Democratic State Chairman William L. Coleman estimates the crowd for the dinner celebrating DiSalle's 54th birthday at between 2,000 and 3,000.

Kennedy Due Meeting With Party Heads

Seeks Bipartisan Support For Some Of Chief Proposals

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy plans to sit down with leaders of both parties early next week to seek bipartisan support for some of the major proposals he will lay before Congress.

Chief topic at a breakfast now being arranged by the White House will be the President's forthcoming request for broad executive authority to negotiate tariffs in dealing with the European Common Market.

Kennedy hopes for Republican as well as Democratic backing for this program. He also wants to enlist broad support for foreign aid, an issue sharpened by developments in India and the Congo.

The President apparently feels, too, that there is some basis to believe that he can get some Republican aid in his efforts to get Congress to approve a program of medical care for the elderly, financed through the Social Security System.

Kennedy's move to bring the Republicans in for a chat indicates that, despite the approaching congressional elections of November, he would like to avoid a cat-and-dog political fight in the new session of Congress.

Reports Indicate No New Red Position On Berlin

WASHINGTON (AP) — Preliminary reports indicate Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko did not offer any new Kremlin position on Berlin in his conference with U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson, informed sources say. But a sudden change had not been expected.

The officials said they expect Thomspon will be instructed to meet Gromyko again fairly soon in an effort to find a solution to the explosive problem.

President Kennedy, who was kept informed in Palm Beach, Fla., of the Moscow developments was described as believing it important to keep open the diplomatic contact with the Russians.

Thompson's first dispatch was said to have been a brief resume of Tuesday's initial conversation. A lengthier account was expected to be available today.

State Department officials intended to study it carefully for any slight change in Gromyko's position which might point the way toward a new approach to the seemingly deadlocked dispute.

After Thompson's complete report has been gone over thoroughly new instructions will be dispatched to him on undertaking a follow-up session with Gromyko.

Gromyko's reported reiteration of the Kremlin line on Berlin did not come as any big surprise here.

The pattern of discussions with the Soviets in the past is that at the outset both sides expound their known positions.

Welfare Reform In 1963

While Republicans and Democrats in the Ohio Statehouse wrestle with and wrangle over the immediate problems of finding cash for welfare bills, a recommendation for reorganizing the entire welfare administrative system in the state apparently has been lost sight of.

That is natural, because the General Assembly does not meet again in regular session until January 1963.

The proposal represents a radical departure from past practice and does not enjoy anywhere near unanimous support among state and local officials. But it ought to be included in any consideration of ways to meet future welfare problems for these very reasons.

It would put total responsibility for the administration of all welfare programs in the hands of the state, which would supervise the operations of county offices and abolish municipal welfare agencies.

It was recommended in a private report never made public and subsequently by a committee of Gov. DiSalle's cabinet members. A bill was introduced in the legislature last March (co-sponsored by Rep. Bernice K. MacKenzie, D-Stark) to put it into effect, but the bill never got out of committee.

THE REVISION would not solve all the problems of welfare in Ohio. But it would certainly improve an impossible cumbersome administrative setup which now imposes financial waste and duplicated effort on top of burgeoning relief rolls.

The proposal is controversial. Some opposition is purely political, some arises from a dislike for and fear of further centralization of government.

But it offers advantages which appear more attractive as the state and its subdivisions face continuing crises in welfare programs.

It would permit uniform standards in all 88 counties in the dispensing of relief payments.

It would permit uniform standards for and more efficient use of personnel, all of whom would be under state civil service.

It would permit the allocation of state funds to counties on the basis of need rather than a fixed formula based on geography, population and the size of tax duplicates.

It would end the needless duplication of effort that now results from the existence of 88 county welfare departments, 51 child welfare boards, 35 city relief agencies and 88 county soldiers' and sailors' relief commissions.

IT IS OBVIOUS that little real headway can be made in solving total welfare problems until a more sensible system of administration than the present one is in force.

The specific proposal for unification may be too controversial for the members of the legislature. The cabinet committee suggested two other choices which represent compromises.

Serious thought ought to be going into this administrative problem so definitive action can be taken in the 1963 session of the General Assembly.

Three Years And Still Going

The Castro revolution in Cuba now is three years old and still in motion. The fact that revolutions do not end at a given instant but run on continuously from their beginnings is not easy to comprehend.

Because Cuba is only 90 miles from the United States there has been a special urgency about reaching pat conclusions. The first urgency was to believe that Castro was not a Communist, which many Americans yielded to in their haste to rationalize what had happened in the wake of Fulgencio Batista's heavy-handed regime.

The next urgency was to believe Castro himself was not a Communist despite the demonstrable fact he was being advised by Communists and despite the visible presence of Chinese Communists, Russian Communists and Czechoslovak Communists.

This was followed by the urgency to believe that though he was beginning to rant and rave like a Communist, Castro was essentially a homegrown revolutionist shrewdly using all the help he could get from Communists, much as U.S. labor leaders used the professional organizers of the Communist party to help them conduct the great organizing campaigns of vertical unionism before and during World War II.

THE PRESENT urgency is to believe Castro is every inch a Communist, as he proclaimed himself to be on Dec. 2; that he never was anything else; that Cuba is as Communist-dominated as any other Communist country and that the Cubans themselves are to be thought of as card-carrying comrades in the international Communist conspiracy.

The trouble with all these urgencies and whatever other urgencies may come in due course of time is that they try to make a completed form of something still taking shape. The Cuban revolution is not over. The Communists in Cuba know this full well. Americans should think about it too.

One curious explanation is being offered for Castro's declaration last Dec. 2. It is possible he wanted to tell the world he was a Communist and always had been because he is afraid of being downgraded by the Kremlin.

This would amount to blackmailing the Kremlin, in the hope of getting more aid than he has been getting from Russia and of making it difficult for the Kremlin to pull the rug from under his regime in Cuba.

ANALYSTS who have looked closely at the text of the five-hour harangue in which Castro proclaimed his belief in Marxism have found signs he may have been trying to climb aboard Marxism in too much of a hurry. He confessed to knowing little about it and not being a confirmed Marxist when he finished his college education.

Americans may have been readier to take Castro at his word than the assorted Communists he was addressing himself to.

Is he a Chinese Marxist or a Russian Marxist? There's a difference.

Is he, perhaps, a Marxist only in the limited sense of believing in Karl Marx and the precepts of Nicolai Lenin, which would make him different from being a Stalin Marxist and certainly different from being a Khrushchev Marxist?

Or is he what he essentially has been since he became the leader of a Cuban revolution—a catch-as-catch-can opportunist who will pick up any stick to beat a dog?

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Dramatic review of "Sixty-Two," a play depicting arrival of the new year:

Having its opening in accordance with traditions, "Sixty-Two" was greeted by its usual warm welcome. Allowances must be made, however, for audience applause due entirely to long habit, a sense of obligation and considerable befuddlement.

Chief character, "Pinky," bounced on with traditional gusto, but seemed quite nervous, being unsure of lines and giving impression of bewilderment.

Prologue showed a short episode in which the Old Year was shown choosing nearest exit with obvious delight, his departure viewed against background of tanks, guns, rockets, and launching pads. Music switched from a dirge to gay music as "Pinky" smilingly floated in. Smile changed to look of alarm, indicating popping of champagne corks had been mistaken for gunfire.

The new arrival stumbled over a threshold full of obstacles, traps, pitfalls and conflicting prophecies.

Mood changed to drama with the kid's first line, "I want a policeman!"

Its second line was "also send armed escort, nurses, adhesive tape, first-aid kit and a good defensive eleven."

Thn came moving scene showing three figures, "Optimism," "UN" and "Diplomacy" arriving to loud cheers but followed by procession of characters bearing cement bags, girders, etc.

They were obviously Berlin wall builders. "Pinky" turned pale.

A ballet of business oracles, economic experts, scientists, world leaders, etc., followed but failed to restore confidence.

The New Year now developed a bent figure, a heavy air and white whiskers as it sobbed "Oh, No!"

The drama became a combination of Mike Hammer, Alfred Hitchcock, Saroyan, Brendon Behan and Early Eugene O'Neil.

The audience seemed confused. But that was its condition when it arrived.

To sum up, the production could at best be called adequate. But we predict a year's run, given a little luck and no summit sessions.

Oh, wondrous day. . .

Odd Facts

Most of the sand on a beach comes from rock. Sand is, in fact, fine particles of stone formed chiefly by the action of water wearing away the shores. Only the harder mineral in rock becomes sand, as the others become silt or mud.

It takes the average American housewife only about one and a half hours a day to prepare the food for her family of four, whereas 40 years ago she spent five and a half hours a day in her kitchen performing the same task.

Seat Of The Mighty

Some Didn't Come To Dinner

By Victor Riesel

'Twas the night after Christmas in Nelson Rockefellers official house. Much was stirring in the gracious dining room of the executive mansion in Albany. The banter was gay. No one could tell from the governor's pleasantries whether he was disappointed over the size of his gathering or concerned that so many of the national labor leaders he had invited had wired him their regrets.

Victor Riesel

It could not have been the food, for never had veal cutlet been so especially prepared, not even for gourmets of a dining room closer to the Potomac than the Hudson.

Nor could it have been the surroundings. Not often do labor leaders get a chance to dine under Picasso's first cubist piece or alongside a tapestry of his "Guernica" — picturing more troubled times in Spain. Nor could it have been the host, for they are fond of him indeed.

It could only have been the realism of scientific politics. So it seems to me. For to dine with Nelson Rockefeller is considered even by the avant guarde of the New Frontiersmen a great social and personal pleasure.

Yet such labor leaders as the garment workers' Dave Dubinsky, the men's garment workers' study in dignity, Jacob Potofsky, the hatters' Alex Rose, Harold Garno, State AFL-CIO secretary-treasurer, and six others did not accept.

I would guess they believed Nelson A. Rockefeller had not the slightest intention of retiring from politics or retreating from his understandable desire to become president of the United States.

THE EVENTS of this night of which I write really began just a week after reports that he would quit his post, his party and his dreams. On Dec. 20, he telegraphed the 15 most important New York labor leaders.

"There are," said the governor, "many matters of mutual concern I would like to discuss with you and your colleagues relative to the forthcoming legislative session. It would give me great pleasure if you could join me for dinner at the Executive Mansion on Tuesday evening, Dec. 26 at 6 p.m. for a discussion and review of some of these matters. (signed) Nelson A. Rockefeller."

Among those who accepted were Harry Van Arsdale Jr., leader of the fight for the four-hour day; and his colleague, David Sullivan, head of the Building Service Employes Union and the New York Shorter Work Week Committee, now seeking to launch a similar movement across the United States; as well as Morris Iushewitz, secretary of the New York City Central Labor Council and Ray Corbett, legislative chairman of the State's AFL-CIO. There were some five members of Rockefeller's staff. In all, some 14 were gathered at the table.

THEY HEARD the governor talk strongly of the need for planning instead of riding from crisis to crisis. He spoke of looking ahead 10 years. He listened to Corbett lead off for the labor side with talk of the need to build more low cost housing. There was give and take on automation, hard core unemployment and foreign competition.

Always the governor spoke of more and more planning. He indicated he would experiment with a tri-partite labor-management government committee to move swiftly wherever machines permanently replaced men. Gov. Rockefeller responded to every query of the labor men who did dine with him.

It was when Van Arsdale, developer of the four-hour day campaign, spoke of his fear of continued joblessness, that the governor said there must be long term industrial and social planning — and insinuated there was none now at the federal level.

There was no doubt in the minds of his guests that Mr. Rockefeller would like to be the chief executive of a nation making such long time plans.

BUT THE GOVERNOR now knows that when he runs for reelection in November, the men who came to dinner as well as the men who did not, will be bucking him. This is certain, though labor and its political allies in this make-or-break state do not yet have a candidate.

That makes no difference. Nelson Rockefeller once may have thought it would, but now he knows that the realism of political conflict leaves no margin for personal esteem. Labor is fond of him. But that is as germane as litchi nuts on a hamburger. He is a Republican.

Labor is dedicated to John Kennedy. To the union chiefs, that is natural law. Nothing will alter it.

Kennedy, Other Leaders

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

From now on, after a year in office, President Kennedy more and more will be compared in policies, performance and personality with men who had his job or have one like it.

Kennedy is more like former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan than any other world leader of recent times.

Haughty, stubborn French President Charles de Gaulle is a complete opposite. So is earthy, bouncy, extroverted Soviet Premier Khrushchev. So is former President Harry S. Truman.

Truman was more outwardly aggressive and the result was a lot of conflict — for instance, with Republicans and particularly Sens. Taft and McCarthy — which he seemed to enjoy.

Some of his conflicts might have been avoided with different tactics but this is not to say he was wrong, given the time and circumstances of his presidency.

The country will be forever grateful to him for his decisiveness in beginning foreign aid, his military alliances and stiff-arming the Russians.

In all these areas, and a dozen others, there was conflict of one kind or another.

Much of his willingness to accept it and chance his political future on it no doubt was in part a product of his early background in Missouri precinct politics.

He played politics the way it had been played for generations. But that way may not be seen again for some time if only because the circumstances of the presidency are different.

In the Truman years and all those that preceded it—before a trigger-pull on hydrogen missiles could devastate a continent—a president could afford to occupy himself more with domestic politics.

Some other possibilities may also explain the change which has taken place in the presidency as demonstrated by Kennedy and Eisenhower. For instance:

1. American politics may be entering a more sophisticated period when the traditional cat-and-dog fights between a president and his opposition look old fashioned and time-wasting.

But more than the Kennedy-Eisenhower presidencies will be needed to show whether this is the case.

2. It may be simply that Kennedy and Eisenhower either think it shrewder and in the long run more fruitful to compromise and avoid brawls or they just don't have the stomach for slam-bang fights.

To put it another way, it seems to be a necessary part of their nature to avoid embroilments. Eisenhower did that with Taft, McCarthy, and with everyone else when he could.

But then, of course, he didn't come up through the American political system, either. Even as a general he had made a reputation for avoiding open breaks and in getting opposing factions to work together.

This is how he operated with his Democratic opposition. It is clear, after a year in office, that Kennedy is following with his Republican opponents the same course Eisenhower pursued with the Democrats.

Even though this is a congressional election year and he wants more Democrats in the Capitol, an authoritative source at Palm Beach let it be known Kennedy is making a peace offering to Republicans before Congress opens for 1962: he won't do any heavy politicking.

Eisenhower went less than all-out on some of the programs he asked Congress to pass. Kennedy already has shown a great willingness to compromise.

Both men, like Macmillan of Britain, have shown an immense desire to avoid personal conflicts, which in a way is a good method of staying popular.

On the other hand: at a time when the Russians have weapons just as sudden and terrible as this country's, both Eisenhower and Kennedy must have felt the day-by-day American political slugging of the past is small potatoes compared with the greater conflict with commnism.

Disheartening Event

By David Lawrence

Why The Farewell Party For Menshikov?

It is disheartening to learn that high officials of our government and some members of Congress and of the Supreme Court gathered at a party at the Soviet Embassy a few nights ago to bid farewell to Mikhail Menshikov, the retiring ambassador of the Soviet Union.

David Lawrence

Just why should any American pay homage to a ruthless agent of Stalin? This ambassador's acts of inhumanity are written in the records of the United States House of Representatives and are well known to people in Poland who were the victims of his cruelty.

Menshikov was deputy director general of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration — usually referred to as UNRRA — and served in Poland just after World War II ended in 1945.

His mission was to arrange for the distribution of UNRRA's relief supplies. He handled his office in such a way that the food and clothing — largely supplied by this country — went only to Communists and their followers.

A subcommittee of the House of Representatives visited Poland in 1945 to check up on UNRRA's operations. Here is an excerpt from its report as filed in 1946 with the House of Representatives:

"The temporary head of the UNRRA delegation was Mikhail Menshikov, a Soviet citizen, who wielded great control and influence over the distribution of UNRRA's yet meager supplies.

"The distribution was limited to recipients who were active supporters of or collaborators with the provisional Polish (Communist) goverment.

"Upon the committee's return to this country, it lodged a strong protest with the president of the United States and was happy to learn that soon thereafter Mr. Menshikov was recalled and his place taken by Brig. C. M. Drury of Canada.

"Since the committee's return to the United States it has kept in close and direct contact with UNRRA operations in Poland and has noted a great improvement both in the operation and in the distribution of relief supplies."

IN THOSE DAYS they didn't think of Menshikov as "Smiling Mike." In fact, one Westerner who saw a lot of him on that mission in Poland described him in 1958 this way:

"The man was nothing but a hunk of wood. He wasn't amiable at all. If that doesn't match up with the way he is now, be sure it's just a mechanical surface change."

When Menshikov came to the United States early in 1958, the foregoing report by a congressional committee was referred to by this correspondent and by others in the press, and there was congressional criticism of the appointment.

Rep. Timothy Sheehan, R-Ill., said in a speech to the House:

"The new Russian ambassador to Washington, Mikhail Menshikov, seems to have been greeted as one of the new looks in Russian diplomacy. However, in 1946, a congressional committee pointed out that this same man was running UNRRA operations in Poland and distributed the food, not to starving Poles on the basis of need, but strictly on the basis of being Communist-party members.

"Menshikov in distributing this food claimed the credit for the Russians rather than for America, who gave the food.

"This proved a handy tool to win friends and influence many Poles to join the Communist movement. Now this same Russian is being openly received and acclaimed by many people in Washington who do not remember the facts of history."

WHILE IT WAS widely noted at the time that Menshikov was a tough and effective agent of Stalin, the United States government unfortunately ignored his record in Poland and did not declare him to be "persona non grata," as it had a right to do when the Soviet proposal to send him to Washington was submitted to the Department of State.

What is even more surprising is to find Americans prominent in official life — and even in the ranks of labor — attending last week a farewell party for Menshikov at the Soviet Embassy. One wonders if moral indignation has become obsolete.

It is strange that the behavior of Stalinists has not been subjected in recent months in the United States to the same denunciation which the Communists of today are themselves directing toward the Stalin regime.

One wonders how during the last four years any American could have "welcomed" or fraternized with Mikhail Menshikov. He should have been isolated and boycotted from the day he arrived in Washington. He then would long ago have been withdrawn by the Moscow government.

Discovery In Russia

By Truman Twill

The Russians are chewing an official lip over a problem of their official making.

They're afraid the official policy of digging up the dirt on Bloody Joe Stalin may get to be a habit.

It was one thing to destroy the personality cults that formed around Stalin, readers of Pravda have been told, but it would be another thing to carry on the idea indiscriminately. That would be bad.

The personality cult that followed Lenin must not be disturbed. The cult that follows Khrushchev's words mustn't be disturbed, either.

If the Russians are dumb enough to think they can turn on disillusionment, then turn it off again, they are dumb enough to be in real trouble with the one-party dictatorship that produced the Stalin personality cult in the first place.

Once it has been conceded there are two sides to Proposition A there potentially are two sides to Propositions B,C,D, and E. You no longer have a one-idea, one-party, one-boss government.

What you have is the beginning of free inquiry.

And once you've had the beginning of free inquiry you've had the end of unopposed despotism.

From that moment forward, the despot must think twice before delivering edicts because they might be thrown back in his teeth by people who disagree with him.

It is human nature to have differences of opinion. Despotism and the absence of free inquiry are contrary to human nature. They are violations of natural law.

This is what the top Communists are up against. By arrogating to themselves all authority to absolute decisions they guaranteed they would make enough absolute mistakes to prove they were not smart enough to be trusted.

The absolution of Stalin, who became convinced by his own guff that he could get away with anything that popped into his head, was the inevitable result of what the Russians had been told was the kind of government they should be grateful for. If it produced one Stalin, it can produce another. The fault is in the system.

Before the official worry-warts have finished downgrading Bloody Joe they will have downgraded the one-party system. They will do to Russia what muckrakers and debunkers did to the United States, which never came close to having a one-party system and isn't close now. But the muckrakers and debunkers did destroy something.

They shattered man-worship in government. Even Khrushchev has thrown in his hand as far as man-worship is concerned by admitting in a public address he is capable of error.

It was a fateful decision the top Russians made when they decanonized Joe Stalin. It pulled the props from under their proposition of absolute authority, which is insupportable unless the authority is absolutely correct.

From now on, every Russian capable of saying ouch when stuck with a pin will say ouch when stuck with absolutism. If Bloody Joe could be absolutely wrong, everybody else who claims to be absolutely right can be absolutely wrong, too.

No wonder the Russians are chewing an official lip.

They've just discovered relativism, which has shaken the composure of smarter absolutists than they are.

Welfare Reform In 1963

While Republicans and Democrats in the Ohio Statehouse wrestle with and wrangle over the immediate problems of finding cash for welfare bills, a recommendation for reorganizing the entire welfare administrative system in the state apparently has been lost sight of.

That is natural, because the General Assembly does not meet again in regular session until January 1963.

The proposal represents a radical departure from past practice and does not enjoy anywhere near unanimous support among state and local officials. But it ought to be included in any consideration of ways to meet future welfare problems for these very reasons.

It would put total responsibility for the administration of all welfare programs in the hands of the state, which would supervise the operations of county offices and abolish municipal welfare agencies.

It was recommended in a private report never made public and subsequently by a committee of Gov. DiSalle's cabinet members. A bill was introduced in the legislature last March (co-sponsored by Rep. Bernice K. MacKenzie, D-Stark) to put it into effect, but the bill never got out of committee.

THE REVISION would not solve all the problems of welfare in Ohio. But it would certainly improve an impossible cumbersome administrative setup which now imposes financial waste and duplicated effort on top of burgeoning relief rolls.

The proposal is controversial. Some opposition is purely political, some arises from a dislike for and fear of further centralization of government.

But it offers advantages which appear more attractive as the state and its subdivisions face continuing crises in welfare programs.

It would permit uniform standards in all 88 counties in the dispensing of relief payments.

It would permit uniform standards for and more efficient use of personnel, all of whom would be under state civil service.

It would permit the allocation of state funds to counties on the basis of need rather than a fixed formula based on geography, population and the size of tax duplicates.

It would end the needless duplication of effort that now results from the existence of 88 county welfare departments, 51 child welfare boards, 35 city relief agencies and 88 county soldiers' and sailors' relief commissions.

IT IS OBVIOUS that little real headway can be made in solving total welfare problems until a more sensible system of administration than the present one is in force.

The specific proposal for unification may be too controversial for the members of the legislature. The cabinet committee suggested two other choices which represent compromises.

Serious thought ought to be going into this administrative problem so definitive action can be taken in the 1963 session of the General Assembly.

Three Years And Still Going

The Castro revolution in Cuba now is three years old and still in motion. The fact that revolutions do not end at a given instant but run on continuously from their beginnings is not easy to comprehend.

Because Cuba is only 90 miles from the United States there has been a special urgency about reaching pat conclusions. The first urgency was to believe that Castro was not a Communist, which many Americans yielded to in their haste to rationalize what had happened in the wake of Fulgencio Batista's heavy-handed regime.

The next urgency was to believe Castro himself was not a Communist despite the demonstrable fact he was being advised by Communists and despite the visible presence of Chinese Communists, Russian Communists and Czechoslovak Communists.

This was followed by the urgency to believe that though he was beginning to rant and rave like a Communist, Castro was essentially a homegrown revolutionist shrewdly using all the help he could get from Communists, much as U.S. labor leaders used the professional organizers of the Communist party to help them conduct the great organizing campaigns of vertical unionism before and during World War II.

THE PRESENT urgency is to believe Castro is every inch a Communist, as he proclaimed himself to be on Dec. 2; that he never was anything else; that Cuba is as Communist-dominated as any other Communist country and that the Cubans themselves are to be thought of as card-carrying comrades in the international Communist conspiracy.

The trouble with all these urgencies and whatever other urgencies may come in due course of time is that they try to make a completed form of something still taking shape. The Cuban revolution is not over. The Communists in Cuba know this full well. Americans should think about it too.

One curious explanation is being offered for Castro's declaration last Dec. 2. It is possible he wanted to tell the world he was a Communist and always had been because he is afraid of being downgraded by the Kremlin.

This would amount to blackmailing the Kremlin, in the hope of getting more aid than he has been getting from Russia and of making it difficult for the Kremlin to pull the rug from under his regime in Cuba.

ANALYSTS who have looked closely at the text of the five-hour harangue in which Castro proclaimed his belief in Marxism have found signs he may have been trying to climb aboard Marxism in too much of a hurry. He confessed to knowing little about it and not being a confirmed Marxist when he finished his college education.

Americans may have been readier to take Castro at his word than the assorted Communists he was addressing himself to.

Is he a Chinese Marxist or a Russian Marxist? There's a difference.

Is he, perhaps, a Marxist only in the limited sense of believing in Karl Marx and the precepts of Nicolai Lenin, which would make him different from being a Stalin Marxist and certainly different from being a Khrushchev Marxist?

Or is he what he essentially has been since he became the leader of a Cuban revolution—a catch-as-catch-can opportunist who will pick up any stick to beat a dog?

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Dramatic review of "Sixty-Two," a play depicting arrival of the new year:

Having its opening in accordance with traditions, "Sixty-Two" was greeted by its usual warm welcome. Allowances must be made, however, for audience applause due entirely to long habit, a sense of obligation and considerable befuddlement.

Chief character, "Pinky," bounced on with traditional gusto, but seemed quite nervous, being unsure of lines and giving impression of bewilderment.

Prologue showed a short episode in which the Old Year was shown choosing nearest exit with obvious delight, his departure viewed against background of tanks, guns, rockets, and launching pads. Music switched from a dirge to gay music as "Pinky" smilingly floated in. Smile changed to look of alarm, indicating popping of champagne corks had been mistaken for gunfire.

The new arrival stumbled over a threshold full of obstacles, traps, pitfalls and conflicting prophecies.

Mood changed to drama with the kid's first line, "I want a policeman!"

Its second line was "also send armed escort, nurses, adhesive tape, first-aid kit and a good defensive eleven."

Thn came moving scene showing three figures, "Optimism," "UN" and "Diplomacy" arriving to loud cheers but followed by procession of characters bearing cement bags, girders, etc.

They were obviously Berlin wall builders. "Pinky" turned pale.

A ballet of business oracles, economic experts, scientists, world leaders, etc., followed but failed to restore confidence.

The drama became a combination of Mike Hammer, Alfred Hitchcock, Saroyan, Brendon Behan and Early Eugene O'Neil.

The audience seemed confused. But that was its condition when it arrived.

To sum up, the production could at best be called adequate. But we predict a year's run, given a little luck and no summit sessions.

Oh, wondrous day. . .
Let cymbals crash:
There's now an end

Odd Facts

Most of the sand on a beach comes from rock. Sand is, in fact, fine particles of stone formed chiefly by the action of water wearing away the shores. Only the harder mineral in rock becomes sand, as the others become silt or mud.

It takes the average American housewife only about one and a half hours a day to prepare the food for her family of four, whereas 40 years ago she spent five and a half hours a day in her kitchen performing the same task.

If you're wondering where to stay on that business trip on vacation, check the hotel resort ads in your daily newspaper. During 1960, they provided information about their facilities through $21 million worth of national newspaper advertising.

In 1900, there were about three million people more than 65 years of age in the United States. Today, there are more than 14 million.

Seat Of The Mighty

By Victor Riesel

'Twas the night after Christmas in Nelson Rockefellers official house. Much was stirring in the gracious dining room of the executive mansion in Albany. The banter was gay. No one could tell from the governor's pleasantries whether he was disappointed over the size of his gathering or concerned that so many of the national labor leaders he had invited had wired him their regrets.

Victor Riesel

It could not have been the food, for never had veal cutlet been so especially prepared, not even for gourmets of a dining room closer to the Potomac than the Hudson.

Nor could it have been the surroundings. Not often do labor leaders get a chance to dine under Picasso's first cubist piece or alongside a tapestry of his "Guernica" — picturing more troubled times in Spain. Nor could it have been the host, for they are fond of him indeed.

It could only have been the realism of scientific politics. So it seems to me. For to dine with Nelson Rockefeller is considered even by the avant guarde of the New Frontiersmen a great social and personal pleasure.

Yet such labor leaders as the garment workers' Dave Dubinsky, the men's garment workers' study in dignity, Jacob Potofsky, the hatters' Alex Rose, Harold Garno, State AFL-CIO secretary-treasurer, and six others did not accept.

I would guess they believed Nelson A. Rockefeller had not the slightest intention of retiring from politics or retreating from his understandable desire to become president of the United States.

THE EVENTS of this night of which I write really began just a week after reports that he would quit his post, his party and his dreams. On Dec. 20, he telegraphed the 15 most important New York labor leaders.

"There are," said the governor, "many matters of mutual concern I would like to discuss with you and your colleagues relative to the forthcoming legislative session. It would give me great pleasure if you could join me for dinner at the Executive Mansion on Tuesday evening, Dec. 26 at 6 p.m. for a discussion and review of some of these matters. (signed) Nelson A. Rockefeller."

Among those who accepted were Harry Van Arsdale Jr., leader of the fight for the four-hour day; and his colleague, David Sullivan, head of the Building Service Employes Union and the New York Shorter Work Week Committee, now seeking to launch a similar movement across the United States; as well as Morris Iushewitz, secretary of the New York City Central Labor Council and Ray Corbett, legislative chairman of the State's AFL-CIO. There were some five members of Rockefeller's staff. In all, some 14 were gathered at the table.

THEY HEARD the governor talk strongly of the need for planning instead of riding from crisis to crisis. He spoke of looking ahead 10 years. He listened to Corbett lead off for the labor side with talk of the need to build more low cost housing. There was give and take on automation, hard core unemployment and foreign competition.

Always the governor spoke of more and more planning. He indicated he would experiment with a tri-partite labor-management government committee to move swiftly wherever machines permanently replaced men. Gov. Rockefeller responded to every query of the labor men who did dine with him.

It was when Van Arsdale, developer of the four-hour day campaign, spoke of his fear of continued joblessness, that the governor said there must be long term industrial and social planning — and insinuated there was none now at the federal level.

There was no doubt in the minds of his guests that Mr. Rockefeller would like to be the chief executive of a nation making such long time plans.

BUT THE GOVERNOR now knows that when he runs for reelection in November, the men who came to dinner as well as the men who did not, will be bucking him. This is certain, though labor and its political allies in this make-or-break state do not yet have a candidate.

That makes no difference. Nelson Rockefeller once may have thought it would, but now he knows that the realism of political conflict leaves no margin for personal esteem. Labor is fond of him. But that is as germane as litchi nuts on a hamburger. He is a Republican.

Labor is dedicated to John Kennedy. To the union chiefs, that is natural law. Nothing will alter it.

Kennedy, Other Leaders

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON — From now on, after a year in office, President Kennedy more and more will be compared in policies, performance and personality with men who had his job or have one like it.

Kennedy is more like former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan than any other world leader of recent times.

Haughty, stubborn French President Charles de Gaulle is a complete opposite. So is earthy, bouncy, extroverted Soviet Premier Khrushchev. So is former President Harry S. Truman.

Truman was more outwardly aggressive and the result was a lot of conflict — for instance, with Republicans and particularly Sens. Taft and McCarthy — which he seemed to enjoy.

Some of his conflicts might have been avoided with different tactics but this is not to say he was wrong, given the time and circumstances of his presidency.

The country will be forever grateful to him for his decisiveness in beginning foreign aid, his military alliances and stiff-arming the Russians.

In all these areas, and a dozen others, there was conflict of one kind or another.

Much of his willingness to accept it and chance his political future on it no doubt was in part a product of his early background in Missouri precinct politics.

He played politics the way it had been played for generations. But that way may not be seen again for some time if only because the circumstances of the presidency are different.

In the Truman years and all those that preceded it—before a trigger-pull on hydrogen missiles could devastate a continent—a president could afford to occupy himself more with domestic politics.

Some other possibilities may also explain the change which has taken place in the presidency as demonstrated by Kennedy and Eisenhower. For instance:

1. American politics may be entering a more sophisticated period when the traditional cat-and-dog fights between a president and his opposition look old fashioned and time-wasting.

But more than the Kennedy-Eisenhower presidencies will be needed to show whether this is the case.

2. It may be simply that Kennedy and Eisenhower either think it shrewder and in the long run more fruitful to compromise and avoid brawls or they just don't have the stomach for slam-bang fights.

To put it another way, it seems to be a necessary part of their nature to avoid embroilments. Eisenhower did that with Taft, McCarthy, and with everyone else when he could.

But then, of course, he didn't come up through the American political system, either. Even as a general he had made a reputation for avoiding open breaks and in getting opposing factions to work together.

This is how he operated with his Democratic opposition. It is clear, after a year in office, that Kennedy is following with his Republican opponents the same course Eisenhower pursued with the Democrats.

Even though this is a congressional election year and he wants more Democrats in the Capitol, an authoritative source at Palm Beach let it be known Kennedy is making a peace offering to Republicans before Congress opens for 1962: he won't do any heavy politicking.

Eisenhower went less than all-out on some of the programs he asked Congress to pass. Kennedy already has shown a great willingness to compromise.

Both men, like Macmillan of Britain, have shown an immense desire to avoid personal conflicts, which in a way is a good method of staying popular.

On the other hand: at a time when the Russians have weapons just as sudden and terrible as this country's, both Eisenhower and Kennedy must have felt the day-by-day American political slugging of the past is small potatoes compared with the greater conflict with commnism.

Disheartening Event

By David Lawrence

Why The Farewell Party For Menshikov?

It is disheartening to learn that high officials of our government and some members of Congress and of the Supreme Court gathered at a party at the Soviet Embassy a few nights ago to bid farewell to Mikhail Menshikov, the retiring ambassador of the Soviet Union.

David Lawrence

Just why should any American pay homage to a ruthless agent of Stalin? This ambassador's acts of inhumanity are written in the records of the United States House of Representatives and are well known to people in Poland who were the victims of his cruelty.

Menshikov was deputy director general of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration — usually referred to as UNRRA — and served in Poland just after World War II ended in 1945.

His mission was to arrange for the distribution of UNRRA's relief supplies. He handled his office in such a way that the food and clothing — largely supplied by this country — went only to Communists and their followers.

A subcommittee of the House of Representatives visited Poland in 1945 to check up on UNRRA's operations. Here is an excerpt from its report as filed in 1946 with the House of Representatives:

"The temporary head of the UNRRA delegation was Mikhail Menshikov, a Soviet citizen, who wielded great control and influence over the distribution of UNRRA's yet meager supplies.

"The distribution was limited to recipients who were active supporters of or collaborators with the provisional Polish (Communist) goverment.

"Upon the committee's return to this country, it lodged a strong protest with the president of the United States and was happy to learn that soon thereafter Mr. Menshikov was recalled and his place taken by Brig. C. M. Drury of Canada.

"Since the committee's return to the United States it has kept in close and direct contact with UNRRA operations in Poland and has noted a great improvement both in the operation and in the distribution of relief supplies."

IN THOSE DAYS they didn't think of Menshikov as "Smiling Mike." In fact, one Westerner who saw a lot of him on that mission in Poland described him in 1958 this way:

"The man was nothing but a hunk of wood. He wasn't amiable at all. If that doesn't match up with the way he is now, be sure it's just a mechanical surface change."

When Menshikov came to the United States early in 1958, the foregoing report by a congressional committee was referred to by this correspondent and by others in the press, and there was congressional criticism of the appointment.

Rep. Timothy Sheehan, R-Ill., said in a speech to the House:

"The new Russian ambassador to Washington, Mikhail Menshikov, seems to have been greeted as one of the new looks in Russian diplomacy. However, in 1946, a congressional committee pointed out that this same man was running UNRRA operations in Poland and distributed the food, not to starving Poles on the basis of need, but strictly on the basis of being Communist-party members.

"Menshikov in distributing this food claimed the credit for the Russians rather than for America, who gave the food.

"This proved a handy tool to win friends and influence many Poles to join the Communist movement. Now this same Russian is being openly received and acclaimed by many people in Washington who do not remember the facts of history."

WHILE IT WAS widely noted at the time that Menshikov was a tough and effective agent of Stalin, the United States government unfortunately ignored his record in Poland and did not declare him to be "persona non grata," as it had a right to do when the Soviet proposal to send him to Washington was submitted to the Department of State.

What is even more surprising is to find Americans prominent in official life — and even in the ranks of labor — attending last week a farewell party for Menshikov at the Soviet Embassy. One wonders if moral indignation has become obsolete.

It is strange that the behavior of Stalinists has not been subjected in recent months in the United States to the same denunciation which the Communists of today are themselves directing toward the Stalin regime.

127,200 Classrooms Needed, Report Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite a record year of construction the nation's public schools are still short 127,200 classrooms, the Office of Education reports.

It added that the pace-setting year of school building did make some headway in cutting down the room shortage but that the gain may be wiped away next fall by a flood of new pupils.

Based on a survey of state departments of education, the office said there were 37.5 million enrolled in the public schools last fall, an increase of 1.2 million over figures for the fall of 1960. Most of the increase was in secondary schools.

Clermont Commission Decides To Pay Bills

BATAVIA, Ohio (AP) — After chronic money trouble all year, the Clermont County Commission has decided to pay $60,146 in pending bills before making any appropriations for 1962.

The commission noted only 513 new home permits were issued last year, lowest in seven years.

Car

Maggie's Restaurant about 8:37 when Mrs. Dora Wilson, an employe, reported for work. A pane of glass was found broken in a door where Smith apparently had gained entry in an attempt to get to a telephone to summon help.

But since there was no sign of the wrecked car, the fact that he was a traffic victim was not known immediately, officers explained.

Mrs. Wilson went to the nearby home of the restaurant owner, Mrs. Margaret E. Burson, and told her of finding the injured man and the broken window. Mrs. Burson telephoned police and Patrolmen Keith Heddleston and Charles A. Winters were sent to investigate.

Shortly after Smith had been removed to the hospital, a worker on the California Hollow-West End Freeway project across the run from Dresden Ave. came to the restaurant and told Mrs. Burson of seeing a wrecked car in the stream bed.

That led to the discovery of Davis, who was lying on the front seat of the wrecked car. The officers were called again and notified that Smith apparently had been hurt in a wreck and that the smashed car and another injured man had been found.

Patrolmen Heddleston and Winters said a trail of dried blood led from the wrecked car to the restaurant. Inside the restaurant, booths and tables had been shoved askew and there were patches of dried blood indicating Smith had staggered about in search of a telephone before he collapsed into the booth, officers said.

From tracks on the embankment, the car apparently was headed north on Dresden Ave. when it went out of control and plunged into the run, police said.

It traveled approximately 100 feet along an embankment covered with huge boulders to prevent erosion from the stream, officers said. Parts of the car were found strewn along its path, including a wheel, a window.

The rear seat flew out of the car and was hurled about 25 feet ahead of the wreck. The motor was torn loose from its mountings. Although it landed on its wheels, the car apparently rolled over in its path down the embankment, police said.

Officers said Smith was unable to tell what happened and they could not get any details of the wreck from his companion. The car is registered in Smith's name, police said.

Police were unable to fix the time of the crash, except the fact that the dried blood of the victims indicated it had occurred several hours before discovery of the two men. Officers borrowed a blanket from a nearby housewife to cover one of the victims and she said she had not been awakened by a crash during the night, police said. Mrs. Burson said she was in her restaurant until 2:30 this morning.

Earthmovers went to work at 7:30 this morning along the freeway project, but the wreck was not discovered immediately. It was a mechanic employed by one of the contractors who spotted the wreck and went to the restaurant to make the report.

West Virginia Police Hunt Son In Father Death

CLAY, W. Va. (AP) — State Police sought for questioning today a son of Matthew Adkins, about 75, whose body was found by a neighbor along W. Va. 16 about three miles south of Clay.

A coroner's jury decided that Adkins, who had been beaten about the head, died at the hands of a person or persons unknown. Coroner Carl L. Wilson reported.

Officers sought Denzil Norman Adkins, 40, but emphasized that he was wanted only for questioning at the moment.

An autopsy on the elder Adkins' body was scheduled at a Charleston hospital.

Science Studies Snowfleas, How Cockroach Finds Mate

By The Associated Press

An antibiotic for plants, how a cockroach finds a mate in the dark, and frisky snowfleas are topics of scientific studies:

For Sickly Plants

Before long, farmers and fruit growers may be able to give sickly trees and plants an assist with a dose of a new wonder drug, an antibiotic for plants, now being perfected by British scientists.

From a patient screening of 8,000 soil samples, they turned up venturiciden which, if present tests prove out, will be produced as an agricultural spray. Venturicidin is an antifungus, although not an antibacterial, and seems to be harmless to animals.

So far, the scientists reported in Nature magazine, it has been found effective in stopping apple scab, barley mildew, broad bean rust, gray mold, cucumber mildew, and other plant diseases.

Cockroach Romance

A Harvard biologist has found out how cockroaches find a mate, in the dark.

When Dr. Robert Barth removed a pair of glands, called the corpora allata, from the necks of female cockroaches, the males ignored them. The glands, he explained, normally produce a hormone which triggers production of a chemical considered very agreeable by the male. When Dr. Barth replanted new glands in the females, they mated and produced normal eggs.

The female's odor, different for each species of cockroach, will attract nearby males.

Snowflea Frolic

Don't tell the dog, but there's a hardy little gray-white insect called a snowflea that thrives in subzero temperatures and hops with the best of them, although without accuracy.

Actually, snowflea won't bother animals, but it can be a pest by invading cold-water pipes in houses and sometimes find its way into refrigerators. But, the National Pest Control Association reports, such invasions are infrequent and can be controlled by exterminators.

Snowfleas are a type of springtail, that is, insects possessing a pair of spring-like tails that can be tripped when quick distance is required. Snowfleas can hop as much as a foot. Trouble is, they don't seem to have any control over the direction their springs will take them.

Science Studies Snowfleas, How Cockroach Finds Mate

By The Associated Press

An antibiotic for plants, how a cockroach finds a mate in the dark, and frisky snowfleas are topics of scientific studies:

For Sickly Plants

Before long, farmers and fruit growers may be able to give sickly trees and plants an assist with a dose of a new wonder drug, an antibiotic for plants, now being perfected by British scientists.

From a patient screening of 8,000 soil samples, they turned up venturiciden which, if present tests prove out, will be produced as an agricultural spray. Venturicidin is an antifungus, although not an antibacterial, and seems to be harmless to animals.

So far, the scientists reported in Nature magazine, it has been found effective in stopping apple scab, barley mildew, broad bean rust, gray mold, cucumber mildew, and other plant diseases.

Cockroach Romance

A Harvard biologist has found out how cockroaches find a mate, in the dark.

When Dr. Robert Barth removed a pair of glands, called the corpora allata, from the necks of female cockroaches, the males ignored them. The glands, he explained, normally produce a hormone which triggers production of a chemical considered very agreeable by the male. When Dr. Barth replanted new glands in the females, they mated and produced normal eggs.

The female's odor, different for each species of cockroach, will attract nearby males.

Snowflea Frolic

Don't tell the dog, but there's a hardy little gray-white insect called a snowflea that thrives in subzero temperatures and hops with the best of them, although without accuracy.

Actually, snowflea won't bother animals, but it can be a pest by invading cold-water pipes in houses and sometimes find its way into refrigerators. But, the National Pest Control Association reports, such invasions are infrequent and can be controlled by exterminators.

Sheriff Lists 591 Arrests For Hancock

Hancock County sheriff's deputies investigated 142 traffic accidents and made 591 arrests during 1961, the office of Sheriff Joseph H. Manypenny said today in a yearend report.

There were 238 vehicles involved in the crashes, with 70 injured and one fatality. Total damage was estimated at $87,797.

The sheriff's office confined 338 to the county jail. The Weirton Police Department confined 142; Chester police, 19; New Cumberland police, 32; West Virginia State Police, 16; constables, 32, and Pennsylvania Railroad detectives, one.

Deputies served 1,795 court papers and rolled up 152,185 miles on cruisers during the year. They made 24 trips to Weston State Hospital, two to Pruntytown, seven to Moundsville State Prison, one to Spencer, one to St. Francis Hospital, one to Hopemont Sanatorium, and one each to North Carolina and Georgia.

There were 552 prisoners released from jail during the year. There were 559 charged with misdemeanors and 33 with felonies.

The last month of 1961 proved to be a busy one for deputies, who invested 17 accidents involving 27 vehicles in December. Three were injured and damage was estimated at $11,385.

Deputies made 50 arrests in December, and released 39 prisoners from custody. They served 122 papers and logged mileage of 13,842 on cruisers.

Deputies confined 40 to jail, while eight were confined by Weirton police, five by New Cumberland, three by constables, two by Chester, and one by State Police. Nineteen remain in custody.

Wellsville Woman Resigns Clerk Post

Mrs. Lucille Mato of Russell Heights has resigned as clerk of the Wellsville Civil Service Commission.

Rudy Wilk, president, said he received a letter of resignation from Mrs. Mato today. It was effective Monday.

Mrs. Mato has served as clerk of the commission about six years. The commission will meet in the near future to discuss a replacement, Wilk said.

The term of Cedric Stanway as a member also has expired. Mayor William Daugherty said today he has not made any appointments yet.

L. B. Kochert is the other member.

'U.S. Denies 'Deal' To Help Guatemala

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department has denied that the United States made a deal to help Guatemala gain British Honduras in return for Guatemala's help in last Spring's abortive invasion of Cuba.

The denial was made by press officer Lincoln White Tuesday after reports that Guatemala's President Miguel Ydigoras, in a New Year's eve radio-television speech, had said that in return for Guatemalan help in providing training sites for Cuban invasion forces the United States agreed to use its good offices in settling the Guatemalan-British dispute over British Honduras.

tative balances as of Monday. He said there is $12,075.41 in the general fund, which is very low. The water fund is $2,081.73 in the red while the refuse disposal fund is $102.18 in the red though some money was transferred into the fund at the last meeting.

The total balances in all departments is $87,600. Miller urged the financial picture be studied closely the coming year. He pointed to the water fund, stating that the city had anticipated collecting $58,000 last year, but fell $10,000 short.

Stroble was told the water bonds will be retired in 1963. He then suggested groundwork be started for a new water line into the city.

Miller said he has gone over the water department books and said it was "shocking" to see some of the names on the delinquent reports. Mrs. Rahter said notices should be sent out to the delinquents.

Mayor Daugherty said "give us a reasonable length of time and we will make a recommendations as to a program of collection."

Mrs. Rahter said a meeting should be held in the near future to discuss finances and bring the new councilmen up-to-date on various other proposals. She said Harold Sneddon, general manager for Ohio Valley Gas Co., has prepared another proposal for a gas rate increase and that it will be presented at the next meeting.

The mayor's reports for December showed $1,532.10 collected in fines and fees.

A letter was received from the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. stating repairs had been made to crossings. Stroble said the Silver Switch crossing was not done. He said he will contact the district supervisor personally.

Third and final reading was given legislation creating a stop on Commerce St. at 20th St. Council also adopted a resolution authorizing Treasurer Charles W. Stewart to invest $500 in the cemetery endowment fund in Series H savings bonds.

First reading was given a resolution accepting $600 from the estate of the late Martha E. Rex for the perpetual care of a lot at Springhill Cemetery.

Two holdover matters, one a claim for $19 from Clyde Crissman Jr. for damages to a car and the other a protest from residents of Appian Way and Oak Alley on a proposal to grant the Board of Education an easement in Oak Alley, were referred to the new committees.

Stroble asked the street and light committee to meet Monday at 1 p. m. to investigate the Oak Alley situation and a traffic problem on the super-road in front of Mason's Foodliner.

Stroble said Bill Long, dog warden, has offered $150 for an old police cruiser. Action was deferred until the next meeting to see if any further bids are received by Safety-Service Director Fred Baldasare.

Daugherty congratulated Council members for being willing to serve. "We are all aware that what we do will determine what will become of Wellsville. I will present plans from time to time for the betterment of Wellsville," he said.

Baldasare said he completed his work today with the Pennsylvania Railroad. He said he will be on the job 24 hours a day and asked for "time to get my feet on the ground."

Solicitor William Bush commented he will be "happy to do everything I can to help in your jobs for the betterment of Wellsville."

resentative of the union, said the company submitted another offer to the local and it will be presented to the membership at a meeting tonight at 7:30 at Wellsville American Legion home.

Bauer termed the offer a "substantial increase." He said the union and company have reached a general agreement on other phases of the contract.

The negotiating session yesterday was held at the office of the Federal Mediation Board in Pittsburgh. George W. Woomer, federal conciliator, presided.

Several previous negotiating sessions ended in a deadlock. The strike caused cutbacks in operations at Wellsville brick plants and forced the closing of the Champion Works. The firm later announced the resumption of production at Champion and the reopening of its nearby Champion mine to supply clay.

The Pleasant Valley mine is a new operation and was opened last spring. The 28 miners were not organized when the mine first opened. Later they were certified by the National Labor Relations Board and negotiations for a contract started Sept. 24.

Representing the union yesterday were Bauer, Thomas Crow, business agent for District 7; Fred Payne, local president; Jay Hale, vice president, and Jim Crawford, local member of the negotiating committee.

Ray Conover, general works manager; Lloyd Jenkins, industrial relations director, and Perry Mason, mine superintendent, represented H. K. Porter.

Youth Recovers Tiny Radio Used By Weathermen

A 12-year-old East Liverpool boy has a paper parachute as a souvenir of his recovery of a miniature radio transmitter used by the U.S. Weather Service which he recovered from a tree on lower Avondale St. after the balloon which carried it had burst at a height of 17 miles.

Acting on printed instructions attached to the transmitter, Kenny Seibert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Seibert, 754 Sophia St., returned the transmitter to a reconditioning center in Illinois.

A Review carrier boy, the youth first took the transmitter to his seventh grade class at Westgate School. By coincidence, the class was studying weather reporting.

The printed card on the transmitter explained it was used to radio back weather data to a station in Dayton where it was released. The balloon carrying the transmitter would burst at a height of 17 miles and allow the transmitter to drift to earth on the parachute, it explained.

The boy's teacher said the Weather Bureau might make him a gift of one of the transmitters for use in his studies. At his request, the laboratory in Illinois asked the "home office" in Washington to send him one of the transmitters, but nothing more has been heard.

Miller said he has gone over the water department books and said it was "shocking" to see some of the names on the delinquent reports. Mrs. Rahter said notices should be sent out to the delinquents.

Mayor Daugherty said "give us a reasonable length of time and we will make a recommendations as to a program of collection."

Mrs. Rahter said a meeting should be held in the near future to discuss finances and bring the new councilmen up-to-date on various other proposals. She said Harold Sneddon, general manager for Ohio Valley Gas Co., has prepared another proposal for a gas rate increase and that it will be presented at the next meeting.

The mayor's reports for December showed $1,532.10 collected in fines and fees.

A letter was received from the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. stating repairs had been made to crossings. Stroble said the Silver Switch crossing was not done. He said he will contact the district supervisor personally.

Third and final reading was given legislation creating a stop on Commerce St. at 20th St. Council also adopted a resolution authorizing Treasurer Charles W. Stewart to invest $500 in the cemetery endowment fund in Series H savings bonds.

First reading was given a resolution accepting $600 from the estate of the late Martha E. Rex for the perpetual care of a lot at Springhill Cemetery.

Two holdover matters, one a claim for $19 from Clyde Crissman Jr. for damages to a car and the other a protest from residents of Appian Way and Oak Alley on a proposal to grant the Board of Education an easement in Oak Alley, were referred to the new committees.

Stroble asked the street and light committee to meet Monday at 1 p. m. to investigate the Oak Alley situation and a traffic problem on the super-road in front of Mason's Foodliner.

Stroble said Bill Long, dog warden, has offered $150 for an old police cruiser. Action was deferred until the next meeting to see if any further bids are received by Safety-Service Director Fred Baldasare.

Daugherty congratulated Council members for being willing to serve. "We are all aware that what we do will determine what will become of Wellsville. I will present plans from time to time for the betterment of Wellsville," he said.

Baldasare said he completed his work today with the Pennsylvania Railroad. He said he will be on the job 24 hours a day and asked for "time to get my feet on the ground."

Solicitor William Bush commented he will be "happy to do everything I can to help in your jobs for the betterment of Wellsville."

Strike

resentative of the union, said the company submitted another offer to the local and it will be presented to the membership at a meeting tonight at 7:30 at Wellsville American Legion home.

Bauer termed the offer a "substantial increase." He said the union and company have reached a general agreement on other phases of the contract.

The negotiating session yesterday was held at the office of the Federal Mediation Board in Pittsburgh. George W. Woomer, federal conciliator, presided.

Several previous negotiating sessions ended in a deadlock. The strike caused cutbacks in operations at Wellsville brick plants and forced the closing of the Champion Works. The firm later announced the resumption of production at Champion and the reopening of its nearby Champion mine to supply clay.

The Pleasant Valley mine is a new operation and was opened last spring. The 28 miners were not organized when the mine first opened. Later they were certified by the National Labor Relations Board and negotiations for a contract started Sept. 24.

Representing the union yesterday were Bauer, Thomas Crow, business agent for District 7; Fred Payne, local president; Jay Hale, vice president, and Jim Crawford, local member of the negotiating committee.

Ray Conover, general works manager; Lloyd Jenkins, industrial relations director, and Perry Mason, mine superintendent, represented H. K. Porter.

Youth Recovers Tiny Radio Used By Weathermen

A 12-year-old East Liverpool boy has a paper parachute as a souvenir of his recovery of a miniature radio transmitter used by the U.S. Weather Service which he recovered from a tree on lower Avondale St. after the balloon which carried it had burst at a height of 17 miles.

Acting on printed instructions attached to the transmitter, Kenny Seibert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Seibert, 754 Sophia St., returned the transmitter to a reconditioning center in Illinois.

A Review carrier boy, the youth first took the transmitter to his seventh grade class at Westgate School. By coincidence, the class was studying weather reporting.

The printed card on the transmitter explained it was used to radio back weather data to a station in Dayton where it was released. The balloon carrying the transmitter would burst at a height of 17 miles and allow the transmitter to drift to earth on the parachute, it explained.

The boy's teacher said the Weather Bureau might make him a gift of one of the transmitters for use in his studies. At his request, the laboratory in Illinois asked the "home office" in Washington to send him one of the transmitters, but nothing more has been heard.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Will you please tell me why men who eat alone in restaurants are usually unpleasant, humorless, chronic complainers and abusive to waitresses?

I've been a waitress for 11 years and have discussed this with girls who have been in the work longer than I. They agree that the guy who wanders in alone night after night is the one they hope will sit at somebody else's station.

Does eating alone make nice, sweet guys mean or what? — HOT COFFEE.

Dear Coffee: It's the other way around. They're not mean because they're alone — they're alone because they're mean.

The man who dines alone night after night is generally anti-social. Usually he is unattached because his personality defects make marriage extremely difficult or impossible.

The sourpuss is unpleasant and humorless because he is unhappy. A little kindness and warmth could go a long way toward thawing him out. Try it.

Shadowy Operation

Dear Ann: My husband's mother is trying to get a divorce after 27 years of marriage. We don't know the details but we think she has another man. She has a good job and is quite youthful looking. We both like her and never have meddled into the whys and wherefores of her marital problems.

Three weeks ago she moved in with us. We are both fond of my father-in-law and, although nothing has been said, we think he may be getting a raw deal.

Under the circumstances I don't believe my mother-in-law should be living with us. It may appear as though we are taking her side and we wish to remain neutral. Your opinion is wanted. — UNEASY.

Dear Uneasy: I agree that your mother-in-law should make her headquarters elsewhere since living with you suggests approval of what she is doing. Offer to help her find another place at once.

Untidy Family

DEAR ANN: I'm a senior in high school. There are four able-bodied kids in the family besides myself. I'm the oldest, then there are two girls, 16 and 15, and two boys, 13 and 10.

We have a lovely home with nice furniture. Mom is a good housekeeper and we have a cleaning lady twice a week. It seems as if I spend my whole life picking up after everyone.

If the other kids get home before I do, they tear things up something awful. Sometimes when I bring a girl friend home from school the house is a disgrace. I've been embarrassed so many times that I hesitate to bring anyone home any more.

I wish I knew what to do about this. Must I wait until I'm married and have a home of my own before I can have things neat? — MAZIE.

Dear Mazie: Do your friends come to your home to enjoy your company or are they spies for the sanitation bureau?

If your mom is a good housekeeper and she has a cleaning lady twice a week the place can't be as bad as you seem to think.

Have a powwow with the other kids. Ask them to help keep the house straight — not because a home should be a showcase for visitors but because an orderly home is nicer for everyone who lives in it.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Injured Man 'Fairly Good'

Leroy G. Wise, 51, of 2044 Michigan Ave. is in "fairly good" condition today at City Hospital with injuries received early Monday when accidently struck by a car while changing a flat tire in Midland.

According to Midland police, the accident occurred about 6:35 a. m. in the 100 block of Midland Ave. while Wise was on his way to work at the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co.

Oley J. Evans of Echo Dr., Wellsville R. D. 1, also on his way to work at Crucible, was the driver of the car which hit Wise, police said.

Following a preliminary hearing Tuesday morning, he was released from Midland Jail on a $500 cash bond on a charge of aggravated assault and battery with an automobile, filed by police.

A hearing has been set for Jan. 15 at 7 p. m. at the police station before Justice of the Peace Paul McGeehan.

Evans was also charged with driving too fast for conditions and was fined $10 and costs by McGeehan.

Midland police explained that in Pennsylvania when anyone is hurt in an accident, the other party is held or released on bond until the injured person is able to file charges.

Wise suffered lacerations of the forehead and legs and multiple contusions of the back and legs. He was admitted at the hospital at 7:05 a. m.

Police said Wise had pulled over to the curb to change a flat on the left front wheel. The hospital report said he had just bent over to change the tire when hit from the rear by the other auto.

Salineville Council Will Meet Tuesday

SALINEVILLE — A meeting of Council scheduled Monday night has been postponed to Tuesday night at 7:30, Mayor Stanley Fitch announced today.

Mayor Fitch said the meeting was postponed to enable Atty. Warren Bettis, village solicitor, to attend. The mayor said a reorganization meeting of the new Council will be held at 7 p. m.

Council Acts In Annexation

EAST PALESTINE—The northern limits of two proposed annexation areas—along N. Market St. and in Rogers Heights — were set by Council at a meeting Tuesday night.

Costs of extending utility lines in the two areas will be determined and the figures compared with a county survey on establishment of separate sewage districts for the areas.

The limit for the proposed N. Market St. area was set a half mile north of the present city boundary, or to the Unity Grange Hall. The area includes about 100 homes.

The limit for the Rogers Heights area northeast of the city would extend to the city-owned property where the standpipes are located. There are no homes yet in this area.

The oath of office was administered to the Council by Atty. Jack Cohen, city solicitor.

Chester Whitehouse, president, named committees. Councilman Early was named vice president, and Warren Ashbaugh was returned as clerk.

Council authorized a formal complaint to the East Ohio Gas Co. Youngstown office concerning uneven street and sidewalk surfaces where the utility laid new lines last year.

Mayor Robert Harding requested Council to recommend to the Pennsylvania Railroad an improved flasher warning system for the N. Market St. crossing.

Electronic Device To Guard City

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Army says new electronic equipment makes it possible to protect Cleveland against possible air attack with fewer missiles and fewer men.

Col. Eugene A. Wilson, commander of the Cleveland Army Air Defense, said Tuesday he believes the defense is better now "because the new system eliminates manually operated computing of enemy planes."

With the perfection of the Nike-Hercules missile, he said, the Army decided to cut manpower here and in other prime target areas around the country. The 27-foot missile has a maximum range of more than 75 miles, compared with a 25-mile range of the 21-foot Nike-Ajax missile it has replaced.

Col. Wilson said there are enough missiles to do the job even though there are only three active Army batteries and two Ohio National Guard batteries protecting the city.

Trustees In Hanover Abolish Constable Job

HANOVERTON—Constable Roy Painter said today Hanover Township trustees abolished the job of constable at their meeting Tuesday.

Hanoverton has a police chief, Don Sheen, but the township will have to depend on sheriff patrol for future service.

Painter said in his yearly report he patrolled 8,410 miles, made 288 individual calls, directed traffic for 22 funerals and answered 32 fire calls during 1961.

Painter will operate a restaurant in Hanoverton until he becomes a patrolman at Guilford Lake next summer.

Firemen At Irondale To Get Certificates

IRONDALE — Twelve members of the Irondale volunteer fire department will receive training certificates at a meeting tonight at 7:30 at the station.

Fire Chief Robert Lewis of Wellsville, instructor, will make the presentation. The men completed a 30-hour course offered under the Ohio State Trades and Industrial Vocational Training program.

Oliver Nicholson is chief. Refreshments will be served.

Denmark ruled the Virgin Islands for more than two and half centuries.

53 Million Grand Dam Favored In Northeast Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Representatives of five Ohio departments say they would favor a $53 million Grand Reservoir in Northeastern Ohio, but want additional study on a proposed canal from Lake Erie to the Ohio River.

Herbert B. Eagon, director of the Department of Natural Resources, said the officials would speak for the reservoir project in a public hearing Jan. 15 in Youngstown.

They are representatives of public works, industrial and economic development, industrial relations, health and natural resources.

Eagon said they could not take a stand on the canal, estimated to cost $1.3 billion, because they do not have enough information on which to base an opinion.

The Corps of Army Engineers has been authorized to make a study on the canal, which would pass near Youngstown and possibly use water from the reservoir. The state has taken no action.

The Natural Resources Commission recently completed a study of the Grand Reservoir project to create a large water storage and flood control system at the headwaters of the Grand and Mahoning rivers.

New York Bus Company Facing Franchises Loss

NEW YORK (AP)— The city's largest private bus company is threatened with the loss of franchises for many of its routes unless settlements are reached today in a strike of 6,400 employes.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner set the deadline Tuesday for Fifth Avenue Coach Lines Inc. to accept the city's "final" offer of financial relief and come to terms with the striking Transport Workers Union.

Otherwise, he said, "we will begin to look around for other companies to operate these lines."

To date, city transit facilities and the private lines that weren't struck have handily absorbed the 1.3 million daily fares normally carried by Fifth Avenue and its subsidiary, Surface Transit, Inc.

Most schools, which opened an hour late Tuesday, were ordered back on normal schedules today.

The strike, which affects bus routes in Manhattan, the Bronx and adjoining Westchester County now is in its third day. It is the first bus strike here in nine years.

The major stumbling block to ending the strike has been the line's hesitancy to accept the city's offer of concessions that would amount to about $4.5 million a year for the next two years.

Officers will be elected at a Board of Directors' meeting within a few days following the membership meeting. William F. Moll is president.

Further plans for the installation dinner will be outlined at a meeting of the FOPA Thursday night at 7:30 at the Carnegie Library.

New FOPA officers include James Elliott, president; Cedric Stanway, vice president, and Mike Albaneso, secretary-treasurer.

FOP officers are Capt. Pete Trainer, president; Vincent Fiber, vice president; Robert Wellington, secretary; Chief John Hephner, treasurer; Orvill Jarvis, conductor; Jay Williamson, guard; Denton Kevan, chaplain, and Charles Hanlon, trustee.

Injured Man 'Fairly Good'

Leroy G. Wise, 51, of 2044 Michigan Ave. is in "fairly good" condition today at City Hospital with injuries received early Monday when accidently struck by a car while changing a flat tire in Midland.

According to Midland police, the accident occurred about 6:35 a. m. in the 100 block of Midland Ave. while Wise was on his way to work at the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co.

Oley J. Evans of Echo Dr., Wellsville R. D. 1, also on his way to work at Crucible, was the driver of the car which hit Wise, police said.

Following a preliminary hearing Tuesday morning, he was released from Midland Jail on a $500 cash bond on a charge of aggravated assault and battery with an automobile, filed by police.

A hearing has been set for Jan. 15 at 7 p. m. at the police station before Justice of the Peace Paul McGeehan.

Evans was also charged with driving too fast for conditions and was fined $10 and costs by McGeehan.

Midland police explained that in Pennsylvania when anyone is hurt in an accident, the other party is held or released on bond until the injured person is able to file charges.

Wise suffered lacerations of the forehead and legs and multiple contusions of the back and legs. He was admitted at the hospital at 7:05 a. m.

Police said Wise had pulled over to the curb to change a flat on the left front wheel. The hospital report said he had just bent over to change the tire when hit from the rear by the other auto.

Agriculture Department Marking Its 100th Year

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — This is the year the Agriculture Department takes stock of its accomplishments in observing its 100th anniversary.

But its scientists are also looking ahead 50 years in planning production for an expected sharp increase in the nation's population and in world export demands for U.S. food and fiber products.

Reporting this planning, the agency's research service said in a report that birthdays usually are used to survey and praise accomplishments of the past.

"But," it asks, "shouldn't we also contemplate the future—the challenge to agriculture in the next 100 years?"

In his first report to President Lincoln, Agriculture Commissione Isaac Newton wrote: "It is hard to realize that some who shall read these lines will live to see one hundred millions of freeman dwelling in this dear land of ours."

The report points out that the population has reached the 185 million mark and further large increases are in prospect.

"Today," it states, "one farmer feeds 25 people in addition to himself. Will he still be feeding 25 in 2062 or will it be 260 or 2600?"

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman had before him today a fairly complete fill-in on the American Farm Bureau Federation's views on future federal farm programs.

At Freeman's invitation, Farm Bureau President Charles B. Shuman spent more than two hours Tuesday going over recommendations the big farm organization made at its recent convention in Chicago.

Both men told newsmen their conference had been worthwhile. But neither would indicate whether it resulted in any narrowing of their differences over farm policies. The Kennedy administration is espousing government supply management programs; the Farm Bureau wants the government to get out of price-fixing and farm production control.

Freeman also spent several hours on Capitol Hill discussing the farm problem with returning congressmen.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A potato advisory committee opens a two-day closed conference with Agriculture Department officials today on possible broader use of federal marketing orders to stablize price and supplies of potatoes.

The committee was appointed last weekend by Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman. It represents various major producing areas.

Freeman also was expected to discuss with the committee why the Agriculture Department has not been buying surplus potatoes under the direct food distribution program.

At the present time, the department is paying subsidies on excess potatoes being diverted to non-food uses. The potato industry is divided on the question of extending marketing order programs which would regulate sales by grade and size for the purpose of stabilizing grower prices.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department reported today that mill use of raw wool in the United States is running a little below a year earlier.

The amount used during the first 10 months of 1961 was 337 million pounds, compared with 348 million in the like period the year before. This represented a 3 per cent decrease in apparel wool and 12 per cent less carpet wool.

Child Learns Reading From Playmates

Some children learn to read at home before entering the first grade. Forty - nine such children — 29 girls and 20 boys — were found in a certain California community through careful testing of 5,103 beginning first-graders. Their median reading ability was almost at second - grade level. The study is reported in the October, 1961, issue of the Elementary School Journal, by Dolores Durkin, Teachers College, Columbia University. The IQs of these children ranged from 91 to 161. More than half of these early readers come from families of the blue-collar class.

Dr. Garry Meyers

EACH OF THE families of these 49 children had from one to eight children, the average number being three. Help by the older siblings often accounted in part for early reading ability. Sixteen of the 49 early - reading children said that an older brother and sister had first taught them to read. Five of these sixteen explained as follows:

"My sister, the best reader in her class, 'got books for me,' and 'told me what the words said.' "

When my sister's not too busy, she tells me words."

"She brought home papers with lots of words" and "kept telling me words."

"My sister taught me how to sound out words."

"My brother told me every word in each book."

"Perhaps the moral of this is that teachers instruct not only the children in their classrooms, but younger brothers and sisters as well," the author concludes.

—:—

I'VE BELIEVED this for many years.

In 1925, I said in my first book, "The Learner and His Attitude":

"It is manifest that the teacher of the lower grades can, by making her children teachers and entertainers of their baby brothers and sisters, carry on a very effectual program of education of the child between two and five."

Since then I've often pointed out in this column the gain in reading skill by the older child who reads to another child under 5 or 6.

I've said that the most skilled reading specialist might not be able to help a poor reader 7 to 11 years of age as much as this child might himself by reading for pleasure to a much younger child.

SOMETIMES PARENTS say of their preschool child, "He learned to read all by himself." Yet the data on these 49 early readers indicate that "none of them learned without some kind of help."

The child may have his question answered about a word he sees in books, newspapers, magazines, on labels, signs and TV programs. However, help for 11 of the children came from parents who said they wanted to teach their children to read.

Auto Industry's Theory Paid Off In Record Sales

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Throughout 1961 the auto industry clung to the theory that things had to get better—and they did.

In February, sales were the lowest for the month since the Korean War. In October and early November sales were at record highs for the period.

Layoffs and short work weeks were the rule in the first part of the year. Added manpower and overtime kept assembly lines humming in the closing months.

The manufacturers were talking in glowing terms of 1962 prospects with optimistic forecasts calling for sales of 7¼ million cars, or about the equal of record 1955.

With the signing of three-year union contracts, labor peace seemed assured. One of the rare dark spots on the horizon was the possibility of a steel strike after June 30.

Ford and General Motors were closed two weeks by strikes prior to final agreements with the United Auto Workers Union. Despite this, production of 1962 model cars between the model changeover dates in August and Dec. 31 was expected to hit a record 2.3 million.

Total production for the calendar year of roughly 5.5 million cars will be about 1.2 million under the 1960 figure. During the 1961 model year 5,408,625 cars were built.

This was the year of the bucket seat. Following the spectacular success of the Corvair Monza, every manufacturer introduced one or more bucket seat models, mostly in the compact car lines.

Compacts accounted for about 35 per cent of all sales. A new size classification emerged with the 1962 model year—the intermediate. Plymouth and Dodge chopped their size and fitted into this category where they were joined by two new Ford products, the Ford Fairlane and Mercury Meteor.

Six-cylinder engines continued to increase in popularity, being fitted into 45.4 per cent of all 1961 models. This compared with 43.4 per cent in 1960 and only 28 per cent of the 1959 models.

Chevrolet was the biggest-selling standard car by a wide margin over Ford while the Ford Falcon was the No. 1 selling compact. For the third straight year average prices of new cars remained unchanged.

The trend in the new cars was to longer intervals between maintenance, especially chassis lubrication.

Profits were down with Chrysler reporting losses in the first and third quarters and Studebaker-Packard in the first three quarters. American Motors became the first auto manufacturer to include a profit-sharing plan in its union contract.

1962 Meeting Dates Chosen By Ceramists

A schedule of dates for nine meetings in 1962 was announced today by the Pittsburgh Section of the American Ceramic Society.

The first session of the new year will be Tuesday night at 8:15 in Mellon Institute Auditorium at Pittsburgh, preceded by a dinner at 6:15 in Stouffer's Restaurant.

Discussion groups will take up three topics: Glass tank problems; tunnel kiln car refractories, and spray coating in the ceramic industry, including the use of plasma spray.

At a meeting Feb. 13, Russell A. Eberly, division patent attorney of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co., will speak on aspects of patent law of interest to the ceramic industry.

The annual Bleininger Award banquet will be held March 9. The award will be presented to Hobart M. Kraner, associate director of research for the Bethlehem Steel Co. at Bethlehem, Pa. His selection for the award was announced at the section's December meeting.

A symposium on combustion will be held at the April meeting. The annual "Ladies Night" in May will close the current season.

The 1962-63 season will open with the annual golf outing in September. A "Science Teachers' Night" program will be held at the October meeting. The program for the November meeting is open. A "Presidents' Night" program will mark next December's meeting.

The 100 largest advertisers in the country invested a total of $316,753,100 in daily newspapers in 1960 — nearly 40 per cent of all national advertising in newspapers.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. Is there any "homemade" method by which I can remedy a persistent drainpipe leak?

A. Try the "plumber's poultice." Wrap layers of cloth and wet plaster around the leaky part of the pipe, using some strong cord to tie the "bandage" in place, and then let dry hard before using the drain.

Q. How can I eliminate the annoyance of the lid jumping off when boiling dry beans or other starch vegetables?

A. Drop a teaspoonful of butter into the water. This acts the same as oil on troubled waters, and keeps it calm and manageable.

Q. How can I remove some fingermarks from my wallpaper?

A. Dampen the fingermarked area with some cold water, then dust on powdered pipe clay or fuller's earth. After a few minutes, brush off with a soft brush.

How can I renovate a shrunken thermos bottle cork?

A. You can usually bring these corks back to normal by boiling them in a covered pan. This sterilizes them, too.

Q. How can I prevent brass articles from tarnishing?

A. By covering them with a thin coat of clear varnish. This varnish will form a lacquer that will not wear off unless the article is handled quite frequently.

Q. How can I clean badly-soiled bathroom floor tiles?

A. Wash them with a mixture of one tablespoon of turpentine to a gallon of water. This will make your tiles look as fresh as when new.

Singers Barred From TV, Refused Signing Of Oaths

NEW YORK (AP) — A folk-singing quartet was barred from appearing Tuesday night on the National Broadcasting Co. Jack Paar television program because its members refused to sign loyalty oaths, an NBC spokesman said.

Milton Brown, manager of program publicity for NBC, said the action was taken after members of the group, "The Weavers," declined to sign statements that they were not members of the Communist party.

Brown said that when questions arise concerning such associations, "NBC seeks to obtain the information as to the facts from the performers themselvers."

"Two of the present four members of the singing group known as the 'The Weavers'," Brown continued, "have refused to testify before a congressional committee on this matters."

Fred Hellerman, member spokesman for the quartet, said he and another member, Lee Hays, had invoked the Fifth Amendment at congressional inquiries.

Other members of the quartet are Ronnie Gilbert and Erik Darling.

Hellerman said the group's decision not to sign the NBC statement was unanimous.

"We resent the indignity that such a request implies," he said. "Moreover, we feel strongly that no private business establishment such as NBC has the power or the right to require proof of a citizen's patriotism."

125 New Guards Put On Job At Ohio's Correctional Units

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Division of Correction puts about 125 new guards on its payroll Tuesday.

Corrections Chief Maury C. Koblentz said they represent two-thirds of the 179 aditional guards needed to comply with a new law, reducing the division's basic work-week from 44 to 40 hours starting Tuesday.

The law means the 1,180 correctioal officers, the guards at Ohio's six penal institutions, will get a 10 per cent raise in overtime pay. It doesn't necessarily mean that they will work only 40 hours a week.

Koblentz said the 179 new officers should be integrated into the force on a full-duty status by Mid-February. Those starting work Tuesday were chosen from a backlog who had passed Civil Service tests for the job. The others will be hired after further tests or on a provisional basis pending their passing the examinations.

Employes of the Division of Correction, plus the staffs of the Boys Industrial School at Lancaster and the Girls Industrial School at Delaware, were the last state employes put on a basic 40 hour week.

Koblentz estimated that the reduction in the basic work - week would cost the state about $600,000 but he said he thinks in the long run it will increase proficiency more than enough to offset the added cost.

Britain Plans New Informal Rejection To Guatamela Bid

By ARTHUR GAVSHON

LONDON (AP)—Britain is planning another sharp informal rejection of Guatemala's claim to British Honduras—coupled with a public offer to discuss a solution of the century-old territorial dispute.

Informed sources said the British offer to talk is intended to counter threats by President Miguel Ydigoras Fuentes to break diplomatic ties with Britain and to expel all British nationals unless the Guatemalan claim to British Honduras is recognized.

The Foreign Office so far has refrained from making any formal comment on Ydigoras' warnings. Informants expressed belief the Guatemalan leader has suddenly revived the territorial issue to divert attention from domestic difficulties.

Ydigoras reportedly said he would take the drastic step of breaking with Britain because of lack of progress towards a settlement. British officials say an offer to negotiate made by London two months ago still has not been picked up by Guatemala.

British Honduras, a colony of less than 9,000 square miles with a multiracial population of 90,000, has been a source of dispute with its neighbor to the west since 1859.

Guatemala is not the only country claiming the timber-sugar-citrus producing colony on the eastern seaboard of Central America. Mexico, to the north, tacitly accepts British sovereignty but has insisted that it will be entitled to take over part of the country if there is any change of ownership.

An 1859 British-Guatemalan treaty laid down the frontier between Guatemala and British Hon-

Rhinoceros Growing Rare

The lovelorn rhinoceros is vanishing from the savannas of the East — the victim of his own bad disposition and his "magical horn."

Three of the five surviving species are diminishing fast.

The single-horned Indian rhinoceros with folds of armorlike skin now number about 400. The Sumatran rhinos, which Marco Polo mistook for unicorns, have dwindled to a mere 50. The Javan species are even fewer.

The tow-horned species in Africa — called black and white though both are shades of gray — are now found in the hundreds where once there were thousands. The temperamental and near-sighted black rhino, which has derailed trains and charged artillery emplacements, upsetting and trampling field guns, is no longer a common sight on the grasslands.

The veteran entertainer entered St. John's Hospital late Tuesday night. His doctor said Crosby will remain most of the week.

DETROIT (AP) — Throughout 1961 the auto industry clung to the theory that things had to get better—and they did.

In February, sales were the lowest for the month since the Korean War. In October and early November sales were at record highs for the period.

Layoffs and short work weeks were the rule in the first part of the year. Added manpower and overtime kept assembly lines humming in the closing months.

The manufacturers were talking in glowing terms of 1962 prospects with optimistic forecasts calling for sales of 7¼ million cars, or about the equal of record 1955.

With the signing of three-year union contracts, labor peace seemed assured. One of the rare dark spots on the horizon was the possibility of a steel strike after June 30.

Ford and General Motors were closed two weeks by strikes prior to final agreements with the United Auto Workers Union. Despite this, production of 1962 model cars between the model changeover dates in August and Dec. 31 was expected to hit a record 2.3 million.

Total production for the calendar year of roughly 5.5 million cars will be about 1.2 million under the 1960 figure. During the 1961 model year 5,408,625 cars were built.

This was the year of the bucket seat. Following the spectacular success of the Corvair Monza, every manufacturer introduced one or more bucket seat models, mostly in the compact car lines.

Compacts accounted for about 35 per cent of all sales. A new size classification emerged with the 1962 model year—the intermediate. Plymouth and Dodge chopped their size and fitted into this category where they were joined by two new Ford products, the Ford Fairlane and Mercury Meteor.

Six-cylinder engines continued to increase in popularity, being fitted into 45.4 per cent of all 1961 models. This compared with 43.4 per cent in 1960 and only 28 per cent of the 1959 models.

Chevrolet was the biggest-selling standard car by a wide margin over Ford while the Ford Falcon was the No. 1 selling compact. For the third straight year average prices of new cars remained unchanged.

The trend in the new cars was to longer intervals between maintenance, especially chassis lubrication.

Profits were down with Chrysler reporting losses in the first and third quarters and Studebaker-Packard in the first three quarters. American Motors became the first auto manufacturer to include a profit-sharing plan in its union contract.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. Is there any "homemade" method by which I can remedy a persistent drainpipe leak?

A. Try the "plumber's poultice." Wrap layers of cloth and wet plaster around the leaky part of the pipe, using some strong cord to tie the "bandage" in place, and then let dry hard before using the drain.

Q. How can I eliminate the annoyance of the lid jumping off when boiling dry beans or other starch vegetables?

A. Drop a teaspoonful of butter into the water. This acts the same as oil on troubled waters, and keeps it calm and manageable.

Q. How can I remove some fingermarks from my wallpaper?

A. Dampen the fingermarked area with some cold water, then dust on powdered pipe clay or fuller's earth. After a few minutes, brush off with a soft brush.

How can I renovate a shrunken thermos bottle cork?

A. You can usually bring these corks back to normal by boiling them in a covered pan. This sterilizes them, too.

Q. How can I prevent brass articles from tarnishing?

A. By covering them with a thin coat of clear varnish. This varnish will form a lacquer that will not wear off unless the article is handled quite frequently.

Q. How can I clean badly-soiled bathroom floor tiles?

A. Wash them with a mixture of one tablespoon of turpentine to a gallon of water. This will make your tiles look as fresh as when new.

Singers Barred From TV, Refused Signing Of Oaths

NEW YORK (AP) — A folk-singing quartet was barred from appearing Tuesday night on the National Broadcasting Co. Jack Paar television program because its members refused to sign loyalty oaths, an NBC spokesman said.

Milton Brown, manager of program publicity for NBC, said the action was taken after members of the group, "The Weavers," declined to sign statements that they were not members of the Communist party.

Brown said that when questions arise concerning such associations, "NBC seeks to obtain the information as to the facts from the performers themselvers."

"Two of the present four members of the singing group known as the 'The Weavers'," Brown continued, "have refused to testify before a congressional committee on this matters."

Fred Hellerman, member spokesman for the quartet, said he and another member, Lee Hays, had invoked the Fifth Amendment at congressional inquiries.

Other members of the quartet are Ronnie Gilbert and Erik Darling.

Hellerman said the group's decision not to sign the NBC statement was unanimous.

"We resent the indignity that such a request implies," he said. "Moreover, we feel strongly that no private business establishment such as NBC has the power or the right to require proof of a citizen's patriotism."

125 New Guards Put On Job At Ohio's Correctional Units

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Division of Correction puts about 125 new guards on its payroll Tuesday.

Corrections Chief Maury C. Koblentz said they represent two-thirds of the 179 aditional guards needed to comply with a new law, reducing the division's basic work-week from 44 to 40 hours starting Tuesday.

The law means the 1,180 correctioal officers, the guards at Ohio's six penal institutions, will get a 10 per cent raise in overtime pay. It doesn't necessarily mean that they will work only 40 hours a week.

Koblentz said the 179 new officers should be integrated into the force on a full-duty status by Mid-February. Those starting work Tuesday were chosen from a backlog who had passed Civil Service tests for the job. The others will be hired after further tests or on a provisional basis pending their passing the examinations.

Employes of the Division of Correction, plus the staffs of the Boys Industrial School at Lancaster and the Girls Industrial School at Delaware, were the last state employes put on a basic 40 hour week.

Koblentz estimated that the reduction in the basic work - week would cost the state about $600,000 but he said he thinks in the long run it will increase proficiency more than enough to offset the added cost.

Britain Plans New Informal Rejection To Guatamela Bid

By ARTHUR GAVSHON

LONDON (AP)—Britain is planning another sharp informal rejection of Guatemala's claim to British Honduras—coupled with a public offer to discuss a solution of the century-old territorial dispute.

Informed sources said the British offer to talk is intended to counter threats by President Miguel Ydigoras Fuentes to break diplomatic ties with Britain and to expel all British nationals unless the Guatemalan claim to British Honduras is recognized.

The Foreign Office so far has refrained from making any formal comment on Ydigoras' warnings. Informants expressed belief the Guatemalan leader has suddenly revived the territorial issue to divert attention from domestic difficulties.

Ydigoras reportedly said he would take the drastic step of breaking with Britain because of lack of progress towards a settlement. British officials say an offer to negotiate made by London two months ago still has not been picked up by Guatemala.

British Honduras, a colony of less than 9,000 square miles with a multiracial population of 90,000, has been a source of dispute with its neighbor to the west since 1859.

Guatemala is not the only country claiming the timber-sugar-citrus producing colony on the eastern seaboard of Central America. Mexico, to the north, tacitly accepts British sovereignty but has insisted that it will be entitled to take over part of the country if there is any change of ownership.

An 1859 British-Guatemalan treaty laid down the frontier between Guatemala and British Hon-

Rhinoceros Growing Rare

The lovelorn rhinoceros is vanishing from the savannas of the East — the victim of his own bad disposition and his "magical horn."

Three of the five surviving species are diminishing fast.

The single-horned Indian rhinoceros with folds of armorlike skin now number about 400. The Sumatran rhinos, which Marco Polo mistook for unicorns, have dwindled to a mere 50. The Javan species are even fewer.

The tow-horned species in Africa — called black and white though both are shades of gray — are now found in the hundreds where once there were thousands. The temperamental and near-sighted black rhino, which has derailed trains and charged artillery emplacements, upsetting and trampling field guns, is no longer a common sight on the grasslands.

DiSalle Denies Reports, Rumors

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. Michael V. DiSalle has denied (1) published reports that he has decided to declare his political intentions Friday and (2) rumors that President Kennedy has been advised that a poll shows Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy could beat DiSalle for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Friday is the day before the President attends a $100-a-plate birthday dinner for the governor, who announced Oct. 20 he would not seek re-election. DiSalle lately has admitted he could change his mind.

DiSalle said Tuesday he has been informed the President had no knowledge of the supposed poll. He said the White House information about the alleged poll came from Andrew Hatcher, presidential press aide.

The governor said of the reports of such a poll, rumored widely for weeks: "It's so hush-hush that nobody knows who is running it."

Keep In Trim

Dress Size A Matter Of Inches

Whip out the tape and play the game of losing inches. On the measurement score, there is a one-and-a-half to two-inch difference in the waist, abdomen and hips measurement from one dress size to the next. Measure two inches on the tape and you'll see it's nothing at all to slim down one whole dress size.

Ida Jean Kain

Most women take on weight in a similar way — the spread begins in the middle. In measuring, start with the waist. Circle tape around the waist, pull tape comfortably tight, then mark the measure with a colored crayon.

Now — the challenge: Sew snaps on the tape. Sew the first snap at the beginning of the tape measure and the second two inches slimmer than your present waistline measurement. By St. Valentine's Day you'll be able to fasten the snaps! Make that your goal.

THE ABDOMEN is part and parcel of the spread, for when the oblique muscles that cover the side - front of the abdomen lose tone, the waist wanders. When taking the abdominal measurement, circle tape around the body to include the outcurve. Make this measurement on tape with a red crayon. Two inches slimmer on the tape, sew a snap.

The hips: To get the full measure, circle tape around the lower hips at the largest part to include the buttocks. Don't indent tape. Draw the line in red, and two inches slimmer, sew snap.

The bust is the gauge of upper body structure, and in standard dress sizes for each body type measurements are based on the bust. However, weight, muscle tone and posture are all factors influencing the bust measurement. The overly large bust is almost always caused by excess weight. As you lose, this measurement lessens.

The crucial measurements that affect your dress size will be the waist and abdomen. The standard number of pounds between sizes, however, varies with stature ...from 10 pounds in small sizes to 16 and possibly even 20 pounds in large sizes. Once you get the knack of eating to lose pounds and exercising to trim off inches, slimming down one size will be a breeze.

2 Children Die In Building Fire

CINCINNATI (AP) — Two children died today in a fire which swept through a second - floor apartment in the Fairmount area of Cincinnati.

The dead were listed as Joseph Moellinger, 4, and his brother, Scott, 3.

Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Moellinger Sr., managed to escape with an infant son. The father, 26, made an effort to reach the two victims when he was awakened by smoke but heat and smoke prevented him from getting to the bedroom where the two boys were sleeping.

Firemen said the blaze started in a clothes cupboard where an electric light was burning as a night light for the boys. They said clothing apparently was stored too close to the light bulb and became ignited.

Damage to the building was estimated at $5,000.

The Moellinger family operates a bakery on the first floor.

DiSalle Denies Reports, Rumors

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. Michael V. DiSalle has denied (1) published reports that he has decided to declare his political intentions Friday and (2) rumors that President Kennedy has been advised that a poll shows Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy could beat DiSalle for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Friday is the day before the President attends a $100-a-plate birthday dinner for the governor, who announced Oct. 20 he would not seek re-election. DiSalle lately has admitted he could change his mind.

DiSalle said Tuesday he has been informed the President had no knowledge of the supposed poll. He said the White House information about the alleged poll came from Andrew Hatcher, presidential press aide.

The governor said of the reports of such a poll, rumored widely for weeks: "It's so hush-hush that nobody knows who is running it."

Okra, a vegetable, is sometimes referred to as gumbo.

Dress Size A Matter Of Inches

Whip out the tape and play the game of losing inches. On the measurement score, there is a one-and-a-half to two-inch difference in the waist, abdomen and hips measurement from one dress size to the next. Measure two inches on the tape and you'll see it's nothing at all to slim down one whole dress size.

Ida Jean Kain

Most women take on weight in a similar way — the spread begins in the middle. In measuring, start with the waist. Circle tape around the waist, pull tape comfortably tight, then mark the measure with a colored crayon.

Now — the challenge: Sew snaps on the tape. Sew the first snap at the beginning of the tape measure and the second two inches slimmer than your present waistline measurement. By St. Valentine's Day you'll be able to fasten the snaps! Make that your goal.

THE ABDOMEN is part and parcel of the spread, for when the oblique muscles that cover the side - front of the abdomen lose tone, the waist wanders. When taking the abdominal measurement, circle tape around the body to include the outcurve. Make this measurement on tape with a red crayon. Two inches slimmer on the tape, sew a snap.

The hips: To get the full measure, circle tape around the lower hips at the largest part to include the buttocks. Don't indent tape. Draw the line in red, and two inches slimmer, sew snap.

The bust is the gauge of upper body structure, and in standard dress sizes for each body type measurements are based on the bust. However, weight, muscle tone and posture are all factors influencing the bust measurement. The overly large bust is almost always caused by excess weight. As you lose, this measurement lessens.

The crucial measurements that affect your dress size will be the waist and abdomen. The standard number of pounds between sizes, however, varies with stature ...from 10 pounds in small sizes to 16 and possibly even 20 pounds in large sizes. Once you get the knack of eating to lose pounds and exercising to trim off inches, slimming down one size will be a breeze.

2 Children Die In Building Fire

CINCINNATI (AP) — Two children died today in a fire which swept through a second - floor apartment in the Fairmount area of Cincinnati.

The dead were listed as Joseph Moellinger, 4, and his brother, Scott, 3.

Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Moellinger Sr., managed to escape with an infant son. The father, 26, made an effort to reach the two victims when he was awakened by smoke but heat and smoke prevented him from getting to the bedroom where the two boys were sleeping.

Firemen said the blaze started in a clothes cupboard where an electric light was burning as a night light for the boys. They said clothing apparently was stored too close to the light bulb and became ignited.

Damage to the building was estimated at $5,000.

The Moellinger family operates a bakery on the first floor.

Predictions For TV Are A Pipe Dream?

Political pundits and sports writers may have some difficulty predicting the turn of events in 1962, but in television the task is relatively simple. With a sad Lebanese face, Danny Thomas will announce again that he is retiring from his weekly TV series.

Hal Humphrey

Betty Hutton will retire again, too, if she can first find something from which to retire. Zsa Zsa Gabor will make another pilot film for a TV series, but the Madison Avenue savants will decide she is too risque for weekly TV. In another five years she can play Whistler's mother.

Before the 1962 sun sets many times, Ralph Edwards is going to make a TV comeback. There'll be a slight change in the formet of the show, and it will be called "This Is Life?"

AFTER FAILING last year, producer Dore Schary is bound to come up with a Civil War series to please potential TV sponsors. Dore will have the Reds and the Union soldiers fighting to a draw at Appomattox.

Some really big star will sign for his first weekly TV series with a multimillion-dollar guarantee and residual payments into 1985, but with a straight face he will announce, "The only reason I'm doing this is for the financial security which will allow me to do better things, like the life of Albert Schweitzer."

Ed Sullivan's press agent will let it slip into the columns that Ed won't allow Frank Sinatra to guest on his show unless Frank promises to stay off Como and Paar's shows six months before and after.

-:-

THEN SINATRA will take full-page ads in the Hollywood trade papers to say that he never heard of Ed Sullivan, or Jack Paar. Paar then will spend a whole week of his show time explaining that the entire fracas is a newspaper plot against Richard Nixon and Billy Graham.

As the first robins begin lighting on your TV antenna, NBC will announce that Kathryn Murray is going to replace "Sing Along With Mitch" in living color for the summer.

David Susskind, at great expense, will have Mao Tse-tung on "Open End" and explain to him why Red China can't be a member of the U.N.

Jack Benny's manager, Irving Fein, will put out a communique reporting that Jack has signed another 50-year TV contract which calls for him to do his show five nights a week.

-:-

AFTER A SEASON of watchful waiting, Desi Arnaz will stick his Cuban nose in the air and decide that since the Marquis Chimps didn't make it, but a horse named "Mr. Ed" did, he (Desi) should have an automatic hit with "Big Gus," a new situation comedy with a three-toed sloth in the title role.

Desi faces tough competition, however, because ABC already is looking for another Mitch Miller, and NBC is about to buy a series called "Breakdown," which stars an old psychiatrist and a young psychiatrist with matching couches.

Toward the end of 1962 Betty White will sign up to do the commercials and gasps for the Tournament of Roses Parade. Perry Como will promise his wife and kids that next year he is only going to do seven or eight specials.

THE ADVOCATES of pay-TV will send emissaries to Washington crying that commercial TV has let us all down again and that pay-TV will bring us opera, Broadway and the Bolshoi Ballet.

The next day Robert Sarnoff of NBC will be in Washington to state before the FCC that opera is dead, Broadway is only for people who read the New York Times and that the Bolshoi is communistic. He then will reveal that NBC is preparing the all-purpose series for everyman—Laurence Olivier playing a funny western marshal with a gimpy leg.

And at the end of 1962 the FCC's Newton Minow will make another speech denouncing TV as a wasteland and imploring the viewers to write letters to Jack Paar.

Police Hunt Clue In Death Of Socialite

PACIFIC PALISADES, Calif. (AP) — Police sought clues today in the mysterious slaying of a pretty young socialite who was brutally beaten in her $100,000 home and then dumped into a water-filled tub.

Doris June Bowman, 32, willowy honey-blonde mother of three and a community leader in this swank Southern California seacoast town was found dead Tuesday. She was the wife of Dr. Frank Potter Bowman, 39, medical director for the Southern California Edison Co.

A neighbor who brought one of Mrs. Bowman's children home from nursery school shortly after noon found her fully clothed body in the tub. Dr. Bowman was summoned home from his office in downtown Los Angeles.

Police said an intruder apparently hit Mrs. Bowman several times with a blunt object, dragged her 40 feet from the kitchen into the bathroom and put her body in the tub. She was wearing blue capri pants and a black blouse.

Investigators said the house was not ransacked. Bloodstains and fragments of teeth found in the house showed that Mrs. Bowman had battled for her life. Bloodstains on the bathroom basin indicated the killer took time to wash before fleeing. Blood smudges were found in several places, including near the front door.

A watch on Mrs. Bowman's wrist was stopped at shortly after 10 o'clock. Neighbors said they had seen no strangers during the morning, nor had they heard any sounds of a struggle in the house. The doors were locked and there was no evidence of forced entry.

There was speculation that Mrs. Bowman may have surprised a prowler bent upon burglary but homicide Sgt. Virgil A. Peterson, in charge of the investigation, commented: "We have no leads, no suspects and can find no motive for the crime."

Private 'Hitches' Ride To Camp On Presidential Jet

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Pvt. Michael Lee Imperial was saved from hours on the road when he got a "hitch" back to camp in a Presidential plane.

The 17-year-old soldier had been visiting his parents in Columbus. Unable to arrange a flight back to Ft. Bragg, N. C., he thought he would have to hitch-hike.

A neighbor, Roger Graves, chief of the flight service station at Port Columbus, came to the rescue Tuesday. When the Presidential jet landed here with White House representatives preparing for Kennedy's Saturday visit, Graves asked the pilot whether the soldier could get a lift.

The pilot said he was going to Palm Beach, Fla., but the soldier could ride along and either get a flight from Palm Beach or return to Washington on the plane and get to Ft. Bragg from there.

The boy had already started out on foot when the news reached his home. He was located and sped to the field by taxi. As he rushed onto the strip the plane's engines were warming up and the stairs removed. Crew members lifted him into the plane through the hatch.

New Periods Of Tension Loom

War Over Berlin Appears Less Likely Than In '61

By EUGENE KRAMER

BERLIN (AP)—East-West war over Berlin appears less likely than a year ago but look for new periods of crisis and tension ahead.

That seems to be the feeling of both Berliners and some Western officials.

Two reasons are heard why war seems more remote than in 1961.

One is that Soviet Premier Khrushchev apparently takes more seriously than he did a year ago Western determination to defend West Berlin and its access routes. Khrushchev has withdrawn his deadline for signing a peace treaty with Communist East Germany and has not rattled his missiles recently.

The other reason is that the status quo in Berlin is more bearable to the Communists than the situation that existed a year ago.

Then thousands of refugees each month, including many technicians, teachers and students, were pouring out of East Germany through West Berlin. The satellite regime was threatened with collapse.

The Communists raised their border wall through the heart of the city in August. That dammed the tide of refugees to a trickle, solving their most critical problem.

Some quarters expect new tension over Berlin early this year, particularly if the Communists find the West firmly opposed to concessions in the diplomatic probe now starting.

Some observers believe negotiations over Berlin could be long delayed in starting or break down along the way.

The Communists then could be counted upon to boost tension. The easiest way to manufacture a new crisis would be for the East Germans to harass traffic along the access routes to West Berlin across East German territory, or to interfere further with traffic between East and West Berlin.

Two Ohio Suspects Captured In Robbery

WILLMAR, Minn. (AP) — Two suspects in the armed robbery of a Willmar filling station were captured shortly before midnight Tuesday at Benson, 35 miles northwest of here.

Barney Nelson, Benson police chief, said Othey Walter, Akron, Ohio, and John Harvey, Cleveland, both about 30, surrendered without resistance after he had stopped their car on the basis of a broadcast description.

Sheriff Harvey Spaulding said about $400 taken in the Willmar holdup had been found in the suspects' car. They were brought back here and lodged in the Kandiyohi County jail without charge.

Spaulding said the two men had left Ohio Dec. 29 in the car they bought for $65 and had planned to drive to the West Coast.

Huron County Boy, 8, Dies Of Bullet Wound

CLEVELAND (AP)—An 8-year-old Huron County boy died Tuesday in Cleveland Clinic. He was brought to the hospital Monday after a bullet apparently fired by a 16-year-old hunter hit him in the head.

The victim was Dale Ray, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ray of Greenwich. The hunter told Greenwich Police Chief Robert Seidell he had fired a .22 caliber rifle at a hawk in a tree about a half mile from the Ray home. The chief called the death "strictly accidental."

Film Shown To Rotarians

The services offered by the Jewish National Home for Asthmatic Children in helping stricken youngsters to recover from the crippling disease were illustrated in a film screened by Dr. J. W. Schoolnic at the Rotary Club's meeting Tuesday afternoon in the Travelers Hotel.

Located at Denver in the Rocky Mountains, the home serves as a rehabilitation center for youngsters of all races and creeds who are victims of untractable asthma and other allergies.

The color film, "Heritage of Hope," pointed up the problems faced by both the victim and his family caused by spells of constricted breathing and short-drawn breath in severe attacks of asthma.

The film showed scenes of the National Jewish Home, including the young patients fighting to regain their health, and some of the services offered as treatment during recovery.

Dr. Schoolnic pointed out that asthma represents a serious phase of an allergy, with 17 million residents of the country affected by such irritations. Ten per cent of the population has serious asthmatic illnesses and 50 per cent have minor allergies, he said.

He cited the development of new antibiotics in helping to treat asthma victims, and emphasized young victims pose a special problem because they often are required to be removed from a familiar environment to special treatment centers. Over two million youngsters are victims of the disease, the film narrator said.

Dr. Schoolnic, program chairman, was introduced by Dr. R. Jay Kinsey, president.

Young Says He Has No Choice In Congress Race

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, has told state party officials he does not favor any one candidate over another in the coming primary for congressman-at-large.

Young's letter to county Democratic chairmen in Ohio said "a gentleman who is using my name constantly was at one time an assistant in my senatorial office. His services were not satisfactory to me."

Although he did not name him, this was an obvious reference to Alan F. Reeves, who has resigned his Department of Commerce post to run for the new state congressman-at-large post in the May primary.

"Any inference that I am supporting any candidate in the primary contest for congressman-at-large is incorrect," Young said. "No one is authorized to use my name. I think you should know the facts."

Reeves recently told reporters that he did not know whether he would have Young's support but would welcome it. If he wins the primary, it is expected that his Republican opponent will be Robert Taft Jr., majority leader in the Ohio House of Representatives. But Taft must also survive a primary race in May.

3,500 Expected To Hear Senator

CLEVELAND (AP)—Some 3,500 persons from 22 Northeastern Ohio counties are expected to hear Sen. Barry M. Goldwater of Arizona speak Feb. 1 at a Republican Party fund-raising dinner in Public Hall.

The $100-a-plate dinner will be one of 50 similar ones scheduled that evening throughout the country, including one in Columbus. All will be linked by closed-circuit television.

Goldwater, a spokesman for the conservative wing of the GOP, has been mentioned as a possible candidate for the party's presidential nomination in 1964.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower will address the diners from Los Angeles. Nelson Rockefeller, governor of New York and another possible presidential candidate, also will appear on the telecast.

Cincinnati Transit Seeks Federal Ruling

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati Transit Co. officials say they want a federal ruling before they start on a union request to deduct $5 indefinitely each month from pay of about 1,000 employes.

A spokesman said Tuesday federal law penalizes both union and company if assessments are wrongly made.

Orville Henderson, president of Local 627, Association of Motor Coach Employes, said the assessment was to start collection of the union share of arbitration costs.

After several months of work, a three-man arbitration team last month set up a new 21-month contract for company workers providing a 17-cent pay boost and other benefits. Each side must bear part of the costs of arbitration, expected by the union to be over $50,000 each.

Predictions For TV Are A Pipe Dream?

Political pundits and sports writers may have some difficulty predicting the turn of events in 1962, but in television the task is relatively simple. With a sad Lebanese face, Danny Thomas will announce again that he is retiring from his weekly TV series.

Hal Humphrey

Betty Hutton will retire again, too, if she can first find something from which to retire. Zsa Zsa Gabor will make another pilot film for a TV series, but the Madison Avenue savants will decide she is too risque for weekly TV. In another five years she can play Whistler's mother.

Before the 1962 sun sets many times, Ralph Edwards is going to make a TV comeback. There'll be a slight change in the formet of the show, and it will be called "This Is Life?"

AFTER FAILING last year, producer Dore Schary is bound to come up with a Civil War series to please potential TV sponsors. Dore will have the Reds and the Union soldiers fighting to a draw at Appomattox.

Some really big star will sign for his first weekly TV series with a multimillion-dollar guarantee and residual payments into 1985, but with a straight face he will announce, "The only reason I'm doing this is for the financial security which will allow me to do better things, like the life of Albert Schweitzer."

Ed Sullivan's press agent will let it slip into the columns that Ed won't allow Frank Sinatra to guest on his show unless Frank promises to stay off Como and Paar's shows six months before and after.

THEN SINATRA will take full-page ads in the Hollywood trade papers to say that he never heard of Ed Sullivan, or Jack Paar. Paar then will spend a whole week of his show time explaining that the entire fracas is a newspaper plot against Richard Nixon and Billy Graham.

As the first robins begin lighting on your TV antenna, NBC will announce that Kathryn Murray is going to replace "Sing Along With Mitch" in living color for the summer.

David Susskind, at great expense, will have Mao Tse-tung on "Open End" and explain to him why Red China can't be a member of the U.N.

Jack Benny's manager, Irving Fein, will put out a communique reporting that Jack has signed another 50-year TV contract which calls for him to do his show five nights a week.

AFTER A SEASON of watchful waiting, Desi Arnaz will stick his Cuban nose in the air and decide that since the Marquis Chimps didn't make it, but a horse named "Mr. Ed" did, he (Desi) should have an automatic hit with "Big Gus," a new situation comedy with a three-toed sloth in the title role.

Desi faces tough competition, however, because ABC already is looking for another Mitch Miller, and NBC is about to buy a series called "Breakdown," which stars an old psychiatrist and a young psychiatrist with matching couches.

Toward the end of 1962 Betty White will sign up to do the commercials and gasps for the Tournament of Roses Parade. Perry Como will promise his wife and kids that next year he is only going to do seven or eight specials.

THE ADVOCATES of pay-TV will send emissaries to Washington crying that commercial TV has let us all down again and that pay-TV will bring us opera, Broadway and the Bolshoi Ballet.

The next day Robert Sarnoff of NBC will be in Washington to state before the FCC that opera is dead, Broadway is only for people who read the New York Times and that the Bolshoi is communistic. He then will reveal that NBC is preparing the all-purpose series for everyman—Laurence Olivier playing a funny western marshal with a gimpy leg.

And at the end of 1962 the FCC's Newton Minow will make another speech denouncing TV as a wasteland and imploring the viewers to write letters to Jack Paar.

Police Hunt Clue In Death Of Socialite

PACIFIC PALISADES, Calif. (AP) — Police sought clues today in the mysterious slaying of a pretty young socialite who was brutally beaten in her $100,000 home and then dumped into a water-filled tub.

Doris June Bowman, 32, willowy honey-blonde mother of three and a community leader in this swank Southern California seacoast town was found dead Tuesday. She was the wife of Dr. Frank Potter Bowman, 39, medical director for the Southern California Edison Co.

A neighbor who brought one of Mrs. Bowman's children home from nursery school shortly after noon found her fully clothed body in the tub. Dr. Bowman was summoned home from his office in downtown Los Angeles.

Police said an intruder apparently hit Mrs. Bowman several times with a blunt object, dragged her 40 feet from the kitchen into the bathroom and put her body in the tub. She was wearing blue capri pants and a black blouse.

Investigators said the house was not ransacked. Bloodstains and fragments of teeth found in the house showed that Mrs. Bowman had battled for her life. Bloodstains on the bathroom basin indicated the killer took time to wash before fleeing. Blood smudges were found in several places, including near the front door.

A watch on Mrs. Bowman's wrist was stopped at shortly after 10 o'clock. Neighbors said they had seen no strangers during the morning, nor had they heard any sounds of a struggle in the house. The doors were locked and there was no evidence of forced entry.

There was speculation that Mrs. Bowman may have surprised a prowler bent upon burglary but homicide Sgt. Virgil A. Peterson, in charge of the investigation, commented: "We have no leads, no suspects and can find no motive for the crime."

Private 'Hitches' Ride To Camp On Presidential Jet

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Pvt. Michael Lee Imperial was saved from hours on the road when he got a "hitch" back to camp in a Presidential plane.

The 17-year-old soldier had been visiting his parents in Columbus. Unable to arrange a flight back to Ft. Bragg, N. C., he thought he would have to hitch-hike.

A neighbor, Roger Graves, chief of the flight service station at Port Columbus, came to the rescue Tuesday. When the Presidential jet landed here with White House representatives preparing for Kennedy's Saturday visit, Graves asked the pilot whether the soldier could get a lift.

The pilot said he was going to Palm Beach, Fla., but the soldier could ride along and either get a flight from Palm Beach or return to Washington on the plane and get to Ft. Bragg from there.

The boy had already started out on foot when the news reached his home. He was located and sped to the field by taxi. As he rushed onto the strip the plane's engines were warming up and the stairs removed. Crew members lifted him into the plane through the hatch.

New Periods Of Tension Loom

War Over Berlin Appears Less Likely Than In '61

By EUGENE KRAMER

BERLIN (AP)—East-West war over Berlin appears less likely than a year ago but look for new periods of crisis and tension ahead.

That seems to be the feeling of both Berliners and some Western officials.

Two reasons are heard why war seems more remote than in 1961.

One is that Soviet Premier Khrushchev apparently takes more seriously than he did a year ago Western determination to defend West Berlin and its access routes. Khrushchev has withdrawn his deadline for signing a peace treaty with Communist East Germany and has not rattled his missiles recently.

The other reason is that the status quo in Berlin is more bearable to the Communists than the situation that existed a year ago.

Then thousands of refugees each month, including many technicians, teachers and students, were pouring out of East Germany through West Berlin. The satellite regime was threatened with collapse.

The Communists raised their border wall through the heart of the city in August. That dammed the tide of refugees to a trickle, solving their most critical problem.

Some quarters expect new tension over Berlin early this year, particularly if the Communists find the West firmly opposed to concessions in the diplomatic probe now starting.

Some observers believe negotiations over Berlin could be long delayed in starting or break down along the way.

The Communists then could be counted upon to boost tension. The easiest way to manufacture a new crisis would be for the East Germans to harass traffic along the access routes to West Berlin across East German territory, or to interfere further with traffic between East and West Berlin.

Two Ohio Suspects Captured In Robbery

WILLMAR, Minn. (AP) — Two suspects in the armed robbery of a Willmar filling station were captured shortly before midnight Tuesday at Benson, 35 miles northwest of here.

Barney Nelson, Benson police chief, said Othey Walter, Akron, Ohio, and John Harvey, Cleveland, both about 30, surrendered without resistance after he had stopped their car on the basis of a broadcast description.

Sheriff Harvey Spaulding said about $400 taken in the Willmar holdup had been found in the suspects' car. They were brought back here and lodged in the Kandiyohi County jail without charge.

Spaulding said the two men had left Ohio Dec. 29 in the car they bought for $65 and had planned to drive to the West Coast.

Huron County Boy, 8, Dies Of Bullet Wound

CLEVELAND (AP)—An 8-year-old Huron County boy died Tuesday in Cleveland Clinic. He was brought to the hospital Monday after a bullet apparently fired by a 16-year-old hunter hit him in the head.

The victim was Dale Ray, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ray of Greenwich. The hunter told Greenwich Police Chief Robert Seidell he had fired a .22 caliber rifle at a hawk in a tree about a half mile from the Ray home. The chief called the death "strictly accidental."

Film Shown To Rotarians

The services offered by the Jewish National Home for Asthmatic Children in helping stricken youngsters to recover from the crippling disease were illustrated in a film screened by Dr. J. W. Schoolnic at the Rotary Club's meeting Tuesday afternoon in the Travelers Hotel.

Located at Denver in the Rocky Mountains, the home serves as a rehabilitation center for youngsters of all races and creeds who are victims of untractable asthma and other allergies.

The color film, "Heritage of Hope," pointed up the problems faced by both the victim and his family caused by spells of constricted breathing and short-drawn breath in severe attacks of asthma.

The film showed scenes of the National Jewish Home, including the young patients fighting to regain their health, and some of the services offered as treatment during recovery.

Dr. Schoolnic pointed out that asthma represents a serious phase of an allergy, with 17 million residents of the country affected by such irritations. Ten per cent of the population has serious asthmatic illnesses and 50 per cent have minor allergies, he said.

He cited the development of new antibiotics in helping to treat asthma victims, and emphasized young victims pose a special problem because they often are required to be removed from a familiar environment to special treatment centers. Over two million youngsters are victims of the disease, the film narrator said.

Dr. Schoolnic, program chairman, was introduced by Dr. R. Jay Kinsey, president.

Young Says He Has No Choice In Congress Race

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, has told state party officials he does not favor any one candidate over another in the coming primary for congressman-at-large.

Young's letter to county Democratic chairmen in Ohio said "a gentleman who is using my name constantly was at one time an assistant in my senatorial office. His services were not satisfactory to me."

Although he did not name him, this was an obvious reference to Alan F. Reeves, who has resigned his Department of Commerce post to run for the new state congressman-at-large post in the May primary.

"Any inference that I am supporting any candidate in the primary contest for congressman-at-large is incorrect," Young said. "No one is authorized to use my name. I think you should know the facts."

Reeves recently told reporters that he did not know whether he would have Young's support but would welcome it. If he wins the primary, it is expected that his Republican opponent will be Robert Taft Jr., majority leader in the Ohio House of Representatives. But Taft must also survive a primary race in May.

3,500 Expected To Hear Senator

CLEVELAND (AP)—Some 3,500 persons from 22 Northeastern Ohio counties are expected to hear Sen. Barry M. Goldwater of Arizona speak Feb. 1 at a Republican Party fund-raising dinner in Public Hall.

The $100-a-plate dinner will be one of 50 similar ones scheduled that evening throughout the country, including one in Columbus. All will be linked by closed-circuit television.

Cincinnati Transit Seeks Federal Ruling

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati Transit Co. officials say they want a federal ruling before they start on a union request to deduct $5 indefinitely each month from pay of about 1,000 employes.

A spokesman said Tuesday federal law penalizes both union and company if assessments are wrongly made.

Orville Henderson, president of Local 627, Association of Motor Coach Employes, said the assessment was to start collection of the union share of arbitration costs.

After several months of work, a three-man arbitration team last month set up a new 21-month contract for company workers providing a 17-cent pay boost and other benefits. Each side must bear part of the costs of arbitration, expected by the union to be over $50,000 each.

Dutch Offer Rejected On Guinea Issue

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Foreign Minister Subandrio today rejected the latest Dutch offer to negotiate their dispute over West New Guinea. He said Indonesia would negotiate only if the Dutch agreed in advance to transfer the area to Indonesian control.

Otherwise, said Subandrio, Indonesia will take the Dutch-controlled western half of the big island by invasion, as it has threatened.

"We do not object to bilateral negotiations with the purpose of the transfer of the administration of West Irian (West New Guinea) to Indonesia," Subandrio said.

Subandrio thus replied within 24 hours to Dutch Premier Jan de Quay's unconditional offer to talk over the future of the 159,000 square miles of jungle and mountain territory claimed by Indonesia ever since it won independence from the Dutch in 1949.

Subandrio said De Quay's offer "seems to me to be a mere formality because he still emphasized the basic policy of the Netherlands is self-determination for the people of West Irian."

In the Hague, the Dutch government refused to comment on Subandrio's rejection. It has no diplomatic relations with Indonesia. A spokesman said the government expected to be informed officially of the Indonesian reaction through the U.S. government or acting U.N. Secretary-General U Thant.

High Court Nips State Freeze In Admissions Issue

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Supreme Court broke an administration freeze on admissions to state industrial schools today.

The unanimous decision said the state has a clear duty to accept minor wards committed after a Juvenile Court hearing.

Juvenile Judge Benjamin S. Schwartz of Hamilton County was granted a writ of mandamus requiring the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction to accept commitment of a 16-year-old Cincinnati youth.

Mental Health Director Robert A. Haines had refused to accept the youth under a freeze and a county quota system on admissions ordered last Aug. 15 by Gov. Michael V. DiSalle.

The administration said the system was imposed to relieve overcrowding at the Lancaster Boys Industrial School and the Delaware school but remained in effect at Lancaster where the inmate population dropped from about 850 to just over 500, the institution's rated capacity mark. At Delaware, the number of inmates dropped from about 300 to the capacity level of 200.

Housing Project To Treat Sewage

LISBON — The first step has been taken for a central sewage treatment plant in a new housing development in Columbiana County, according to Harry Stockdale, county sanitarian.

"After this first plant is in, our county will have made a big step in catching up with our neighbors," he said, adding that many counties in the state, particularly in the Northeast District, require the aerobic digestion type installation. He said this type plant is very efficient, giving as much as 95 per cent treatment.

Procedures have been established in these counties whereby the developer builds the plant, operates it for a certain period to assure proper operation, then turns it over to the county for operation and maintenance. In these counties, this procedure has been the deciding factor in improving the environment in new housing developments as compared to the conditions found in older "septic tank communities," he said.

$1.4 Billion Budget Asked By Lawrence

HARRISBURG — A record budget of $1,482,944,503 Tuesday afternoon was proposed by Gov. David L. Lawrence for the 1962 fiscal year.

The governor recommended that $1,000,887,457 in general funds be spent for the operation of state government and its various subsidy systems. The proposed budget also called for $482,057,046 in expenditures for highway construction and maintenance to again smash all records for a combined budget of $1.4 billion.

The general fund sum represents an increase of $52,184,345 over the spending in a comparable 12-month period of the 1961 fiscal year. The actual general fund budget in 1961 was $997,639,210 but the expenditures were spread over 13 months.

Gov. Lawrence told the General Assembly that the appropriations which he recommended can be met without additional taxation.

The situation is that the state for the first time in 14 years will end a fiscal period with a balanced budget and will go into a new fiscal year with every prospect of income matching the scheduled expenditures.

A 1961 surplus of $8,900,000 was forecast and was projected into the expenditures proposed. The anticipation of this surplus brought an immediate comment from Republicans that the money could have been used in 1961 to continue the 2 per cent commission paid to merchants for collecting the sales tax.

Patterson Plant Export Detailed

The activities of the Patterson Foundry & Machine Co. in the foreign market were outlined by William Barker, general plant manager, at a meeting of the Wellsville Kiwanis Club Tuesday night at Piatt's Tea Room.

Barker told of the firm's trading in the foreign market and also of expansion of its industries in foreign countries. He outlined the products of Patterson Foundry and gave a history of the organization.

Barker also discussed the need for tax law changes to aid various "home" industries. He said Patterson Foundry has the second largest payroll in East Liverpool.

Twenty-one attended. Richard Grills, president, conducted business.

A discussion was held on a suggestion by a member that the club urge county commissioners not to cut the fund for the sheriff's office. The club will ask one of the commissioners to speak on the proposal.

Dog License Agent Named At Salineville

LISBON — William R. Hill of the B. & M. Food Center in Salineville will handle dog license applications for the Salineville area, according to Auditor Kenneth Bell.

Salineville was the only area which lacked a 1962 dog license agency when the list was published last month. Jan. 20 is the deadline for 1962 tags without a $1 penalty, Bell said.

Potters' Early Surge Fires Victory Over Tigers, 66-44

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Harriel, Deshler Pace EL To 3rd

By CHUCK CRONIN
Review Sports Writer

Exploding from a brief slump in spectacular fashion, East Liverpool's Potters rolled to an early lead and went on to crush Wellsville High, 66-44, Tuesday night.

The Potters, shooting field goals at a sizzling clip, posted one of the most decisive triumphs in years over their neighborhood rivals before an unusually silent crowd of over 1,000 at Beacom Memorial gym.

With stellar Jack Deshler and scrappy Dave Harriel playing key roles, the Potters stormed out to a 19-8 first quarter lead and held command throughout to win handily over the defending Sectional AA champs.

The outcome was never in doubt as Coach Jim Harris' Potters flashed unerring marksmanship in all but one quarter to record their third victory in five games.

WELLSVILLE, an easy prey for quick passes and a fast break attack used effectively by East Liverpool, continued in a tailspin that has dropped the squad's record to a dismal 1-5.

Coach Jack McDevitt's Orange and Black offered only token resistance to the blazing offensive attack of the Potters, and showed a woefully weak team effort towards slashing the Potters' big first half margin.

HARRIEL, in one of his best nights ever, hit for 21 points and the methodical Deshler connected from all angles for 18 to spearhead East Liverpool's 25-goal attack.

The Potters hit 43 per cent from the field (25 of 58) and 76 per cent at the foul line (16 of 21).

In their poorest night in at least five years in shooting, the disappointing Tigers connected on only 12 of 64 shots for a meager 18 per cent. At the free throw line, they averaged 60 per cent with 20 good shots of 33 tries.

In addition to the wide difference in shooting accuracy, there was nearly as much in the way of aggressiveness and defensive play.

WELLSVILLE'S Steve Baldwin, 6-6 junior center, returned to action after a two-game layoff with an ankle injury and found his height virtually ineffective against the scrappy Harriel under the boards.

The Tiger center managed only seven points, netting only one field goal for the game. Previously, he had scored in the high double figures in three appearances.

The Potters used their hot first quarter as a springboard to the easy win, hitting on 9 of 13 shots with the Tigers retaliating with only two of 16.

Leading 19-8 at the quarter break, the Blue and White continued to find the range in the second period and outscored Wellsville by seven points to snare a 34-16 halftime lead.

Wellsville threatened mildly toward the end of the third period, hitting three straight goals to reduce the deficit to 44-32.

—:—

THEN THE Potters opened the final period with field goals by Huck Steffen, Wade Cline and Harriel's "bunny shot" to move ahead, 49-32, and seal the verdict.

Only player in double figures for Wellsville was guard Roger Ours, 5-8 senior, with 15 points.

Cline, who developed foul troubles early for East Liverpool, added 11 points for the winners.

In the preliminary, Coach Frank Chan's Potter reserves came from behind in the third quarter to edge the previously unbeaten Wellsville reserves, 58-55.

The Potters, now 4-1, were led by Dave Oliver's 20 points. Tom Kraft hit 15 and Randy Stover, 11.

Coach Chick McMillan's Tiger reserves bowed for the first time in four games. Andy Dash fired in 20 points before departing for the varsity call to lead the attack.

Stanton Gains 7th; Chester Wins In Overtime, 66-57

Spires' 23 Tops Diehl's Rebel Quint

Since Coach Harry Diehl arrived on the scene he has seen his Stanton Local team lose only one game in 27 starts. The Irondale squad is working on another long victory string and last night made it seven in a row with an easy 69-30 walk away on its home court over Jefferson Union.

Stanton followed the same script as it has in the past with big Don Spires leading the way as he aims to repeat on the first All-Ohio Class A squad.

His 23 points were only seven less than scored by Jefferson Union and kept his average around the 22-point mark.

The visiting Yellowjackets were beaten almost from the start. Stanton, as usual, raced to a healthy 14-4 first quarter lead and then widened the margin to 30-12 at halftime.

While Stanton was scoring 26 points in the third period, JU found the range for only five as the game got completely out of reach.

Curt Rose was next in the scoring line for Stanton with 14 markers while Bob Mills dropped down to 10 points. Marshall's 13 markers were high for the JU five.

Stanton Local travels to Wayne Friday night, seeking victory No. 8.

It's Official Now
ELHS And Wellville Sign Football Contract

It's official now. A signed contract is in the mail and the ancient grid rivalry between Wellsville and East Liverpool is on once again.

The long series which ended nine years ago will be renewed in 1963, George Hargraves, ELHS principal, announced this morning.

Officials from both schools agreed to a two-year home-and-home pact. Wellsville already has received East Liverpool's signed contract and Don Lowe, Tiger faculty manager, said he has mailed a contract to East Liverpool.

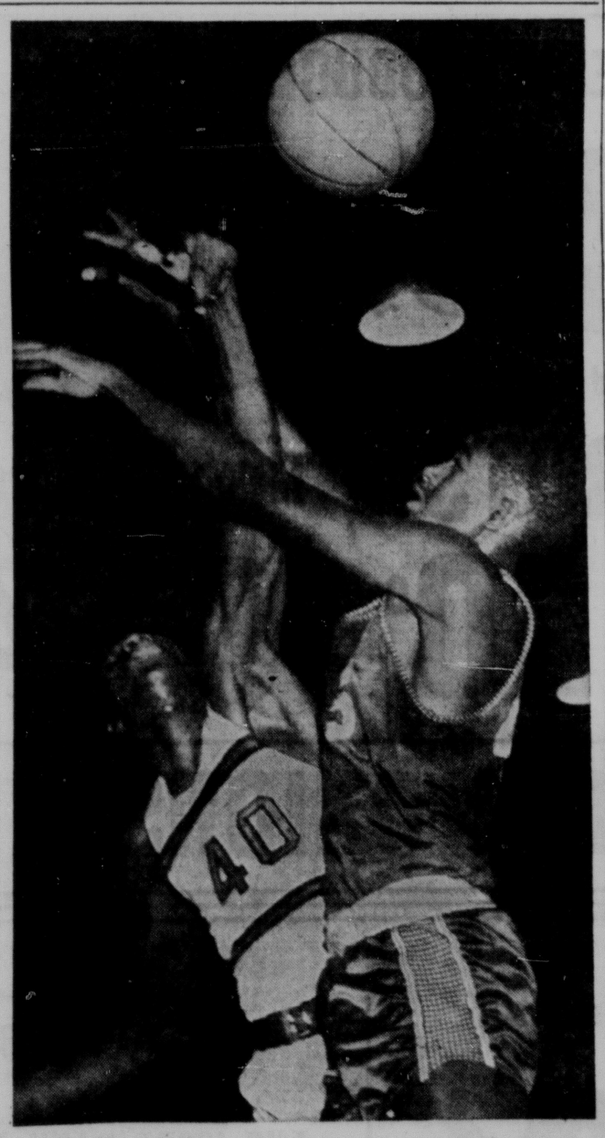

The first game will be played at Wellsville on Oct. 4, 1963 with a return game at East Liverpool on Oct. 9, 1964.

Both schools reached the agreement after long discussions.

The last game between these two schools was 1952 and ended a long colorful gridiron rivalry which drew capacity crowds.

Before the series ended, East Liverpool and Wellsville had been playing football since 1904 and the record stands in favor of the Potters who have 25 wins, 18 losses and five ties.

WELLSVILLE'S Forrest Harris (40) saw to it that East Liverpool's Dave Harriel didn't get this shot off as he bats the ball away during first half action Tuesday night at Wellsville. Harriel went on to lead last night's scoring with 21 points and paced the Potters to a 66-44 victory.

Sayre's Late Goal Ties Game For Panther Five

Keith Sayre's field goal with only three seconds remaining in the contest gave the Chester Panthers new life and that's all they needed in gaining a thrilling 66-57 overtime victory at the expense of New Cumberland Tuesday night.

Before an excited crowd at Chester, the Panthers came roaring from behind to knot the count as Sayre became the hero.

Once the score was tied and the overtime began, it was all over for the visiting Blue Raiders.

Bob Myers, who enjoyed his best night of the season for the Panthers, fired in two quick goals that shot Chester's lead to 60-56 early in the overtime. Kelse Johnson, the game's top scorer, added another two-pointer before Andrews dropped in a foul for New Cumberland's only point in the overtime.

Coach Max Tuttle's forces were in an uphill battle most of the way in gaining their third decision in six games over a New Cumberland team that dropped its sixth game in nine outings.

The Raiders grabbed a 15-8 lead at the end of the first quarter, and although Chester led briefly in the second period, wound up with a 27-26 edge at halftime.

New Cumberland got rolling again and displayed a 44-39 edge as the fourth quarter got underway. Chester was never tied with its opponent or in front during the second half until Sayre's late fielder.

Johnson, a pint-sized guard, earned high point honors for the night, pacing the Panthers with 14. Chester had four in the double figures with Myers and Blaine Pinney adding 12 each while Jim Conkle dropped in 10.

New Cumberland was hampered by personal fouls and lost five cagers by that route. Actually, Chester could have outdistanced the Raiders at the foul line, but could only cash in on 28 of 45 attempts.

Pinney and Jerry Smith fouled out for Chester with Pinney going in the third quarter and Smith in the fourth.

George Myers was high for New Cumberland with 12 points while Ken Freshwater and Gary Nardo added 11 apiece.

Chester's win last night avenged an earlier 49-48 loss at New Cumberland.

New Cumberland's reserve squad copped the preliminary contest, 50-33.

Potters' Early Surge Fires Victory Over Tigers, 66-44

★ ★ ★ Harriel, Deshler Pace EL To 3rd ★ ★ ★

By CHUCK CRONIN
Review Sports Writer

Exploding from a brief slump in spectacular fashion, East Liverpool's Potters rolled to an early lead and went on to crush Wellsville High, 66-44, Tuesday night.

The Potters, shooting field goals at a sizzling clip, posted one of the most decisive triumphs in years over their neighborhood rivals before an unusually silent crowd of over 1,000 at Beacom Memorial gym.

With stellar Jack Deshler and scrappy Dave Harriel playing key roles, the Potters stormed out to a 19-8 first quarter lead and held command throughout to win handily over the defending Sectional AA champs.

The outcome was never in doubt as Coach Jim Harris' Potters flashed unerring marksmanship in all but one quarter to record their third victory in five games.

WELLSVILLE, an easy prey for quick passes and a fast break attack used effectively by East Liverpool, continued in a tailspin that has dropped the squad's record to a dismal 1-5.

Coach Jack McDevitt's Orange and Black offered only token resistance to the blazing offensive attack of the Potters, and showed a woefully weak team effort towards slashing the Potters' big first half margin.

The game was probably one of the first on record between the arch-rivals to ever be decided as early as the first quarter.

The Tiger fans waited in vain for a second half rally which never materialized. At least not enough to cut deeply into the commanding lead held by the sharpshooting Potters.

HARRIEL, in one of his best nights ever, hit for 21 points and the methodical Deshler connected from all angles for 18 to spearhead East Liverpool's 25-goal attack.

The Potters hit 43 per cent from the field (25 of 58) and 76 per cent at the foul line (16 of 21).

In their poorest night in at least five years in shooting, the disappointing Tigers connected on only 12 of 64 shots for a meager 18 per cent. At the free throw line, they averaged 60 per cent with 20 good shots of 33 tries.

In addition to the wide difference in shooting accuracy, there was nearly as much in the way of aggressiveness and defensive play.

The Potters moved the ball well and were alert enough to catch the Tigers out of position perhaps a dozen times to score easy layups on the fast break.

The Tigers were disorganized in their offensive attack from the opening whistle and played loose defensive ball to boot.

WELLSVILLE'S Steve Baldwin, 6-6 junior center, returned to action after a two-game layoff with an ankle injury and found his height virtually ineffective against the scrappy Harriel under the boards.

The Tiger center managed only seven points, netting only one field goal for the game. Previously, he had scored in the high double figures in three appearances.

The Potters used their hot first quarter as a springboard to the easy win, hitting on 9 of 13 shots with the Tigers retaliating with only two of 16.

Leading 19-8 at the quarter break, the Blue and White continued to find the range in the second period and outscored Wellsville by seven points to snare a 34-16 halftime lead.

Wellsville threatened mildly toward the end of the third period, hitting three straight goals to reduce the deficit to 44-32.

—:—

THEN THE Potters opened the final period with field goals by Huck Steffen, Mike Cline and Harriel's "bunny shot" to move ahead, 49-32, and seal the verdict.

Only player in double figures for Wellsville was guard Roger Ours, 5-8 senior, with 15 points.

Cline, who developed foul troubles early for East Liverpool, added 11 points for the winners.

In the preliminary, Coach Frank Chan's Potter reserves came from behind in the third quarter to edge the previously unbeaten Wellsville reserves, 58-55.

The Potters, now 4-1, were led by Dave Oliver's 20 points. Tom Kraft hit 15 and Randy Stover, 11.

Coach Chick McMillan's Tiger reserves bowed for the first time in four games. Andy Dash fired in 20 points before departing for the varsity call to lead the attack.

Spires' 23 Tops Diehl's Rebel Quint

Since Coach Harry Diehl arrived on the scene he has seen his Stanton Local team lose only one game in 27 starts. The Irondale squad is working on another long victory string and last night made it seven in a row with an easy 69-30 walk away on its home court over Jefferson Union.

Stanton followed the same script as it has in the past with big Don Spires leading the way as he aims to repeat on the first All-Ohio Class A squad.

His 23 points were only seven less than scored by Jefferson Union and kept his average around the 22-point mark.

The visiting Yellowjackets were beaten almost from the start. Stanton, as usual, raced to a healthy 14-4 first quarter lead and then widened the margin to 30-12 at halftime.

While Stanton was scoring 26 points in the third period, JU found the range for only five as the game got completely out of reach.

Curt Rose was next in the scoring line for Stanton with 14 markers while Bob Mills dropped down to 10 points. Marshall's 13 markers were high for the JU five.

The Stanton reserve squad made it a clean sweep at Irondale with a 58-19 win in the preliminary contest.

Stanton Local travels to Wayne Friday night, seeking victory No. 8.

ELHS And Wellville Sign Football Contract

It's official now. A signed contract is in the mail and the ancient grid rivalry between Wellsville and East Liverpool is on once again.

The long series which ended nine years ago will be renewed in 1963, George Hargraves, ELHS principal, announced this morning.

Officials from both schools agreed to a two-year home-and-home pact. Wellsville already has received East Liverpool's signed contract and Don Lowe, Tiger faculty manager, said he has mailed a contract to East Liverpool.

The first game will be played at Wellsville on Oct. 4, 1963 with a return game at East Liverpool on Oct. 9, 1964.

Both schools reached the agreement after long discussions.

The last game between these two schools was 1952 and ended a long colorful gridiron rivalry which drew capacity crowds.

Before the series ended, East Liverpool and Wellsville had been playing football since 1904 and the record stands in favor of the Potters who have 25 wins, 18 losses and five ties.

Midland Opens Section 8 By Spilling Hopewell, 57-47

Game Marked By Brief Brawl; Aloi, Sallis, Forester Sparkle

By ANDY NUZZO

Hank Kuzma's Midland High School Leopards opened their 1962 Section 8 season on a winning note by defeating Hopewell, 57-47, before a full house at Hopewell Tuesday night.

The game was a rough one and at times resembled a gridiron struggle. Officials Joe Zerilla and John Richards let the game get out of hand and Kuzma repeatedly told them so during the contest.

A slight scuffle broke out near the close of the third quarter. It involved Rich Lake of Midland and Shane Fuller of Hopewell. Players rushed onto the floor, but the coaches and police stopped it before anything serious happened.

Along with his brother Ruben, Shane was involved in various incidents throughout the game. They played the game as if they were playing football.

The Leopards connected on 21 of 55 field goals for 38 per cent, while Hopewell dropped in 18 of 72 field goals for 25 per cent.

Al Aloi led the Leopards with 15, followed closely by Bill Sallis and Sam Forester with 14 and 13 points, respectively.

ALOI hit mostly with his jumper while Sallis and Forester did their damage under the boards.

Aloi hit nine of his 15 points in the first half while Forester led the second half surge scoring 11 of his 13 points in the last two stanzas. Sallis balanced his scoring over both halfs, scoring six in the first and eight in the second.

Ruben Fuller led the Viking with 19 points, mostly on lay-ups. Fred Milanovich added 15 to the Viking cause with soft jumpers from the corner.

—:—

MIDLAND out-rebounded Hopewell, 52-40, with Sallis leading the way by clearing the boards 15 times. Forester and Aloi followed him with 11 and nine rebounds, respectively.

Ruben Fuller led Hopewell by grabbing 12 stray shots and Milanovich managed 11.

Davis Named Back-Of-Year

By The Associated Press

Ernie Davis, closing out his brilliant varsity career in a series of postseason games and heading into what promises to be a shining pro career, continues to reap honors as the most celebrated college football performer of 1961. The Syracuse star's latest distinction was being named back-of-the-year in the annual Associated Press yearend poll Tuesday.

Davis beat out the three other All-America backs in the voting, being chosen by 43 of the 212 sports writers and broadcasters on the panel. Bob Ferguson of Ohio State and Jim Saxton of Texas tied for second in the balloting with 34 votes each, and Minnesota sparkplug Sandy Stephens was next with 29.

In three seasons at Syracuse, Davis was the key man on teams that won 24 of 29 games, captured the national title with a 10-0 record in 1959 and also posted two postseason victories, against Texas in the 1960 Cotton Bowl and over Miami, Fla., in last month's Liberty Bowl. An elusive and strong runner, the 210-pound halfback rushed for 823 yards and scored 94 points this past season, surpassing school records established by the fabulous Jimmy Brown. He finished his collegiate career with 2,386 yards running and 220 points scored.

Since then Davis has been awarded the Heisman Trophy as the country's top player and has signed a three-year National Football League contract calling for $80,000 with the Cleveland Browns. In the pros, he will join Brown to form what shapes up as a devastating one-two running punch.

Kentucky U. Fires Head Football Coach

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Kentucky began looking for a football coach today after the university's athletic board fired Blanton Collier, the softspoken coach who replaced Paul (Bear) Bryant.

The board voted Tuesday to buy the remaining three years of Collier's contract, saying its decision was by "mutual agreement" with Collier. His salary was reported at $17,500 annually.

Defensive tackle Leo Nomellini of the San Francisco 49ers is playing his 12th season of pro football. The 262 - pounder formerly went to Minnesota.

South Side Topped, 73-52, By Defending 'B' Champs

Ft. Cherry, defending Pennsylvania Class B champ, started a new bid successfully by handing South Side a 73-52 setback in a Section 15 opener for both teams Tuesday night on the Ft. Cherry floor.

South Side, which took a 3-6 exhibition record into section play, battled evenly the first quarter, but fell behind at the end, 13-8. Ft. Cherry picked up a 30-19 edge at halftime and led 52-36 after three periods.

The loss by South Side came despite a 25-point performance by the all-around athlete Chuck Schmidt, who enjoyed his best night of the season, thus far.

However, Ft. Cherry had someone to match Schmidt. He was Paul Brown who fired in 27 points to pace the winners.

Ft. Cherry also capturred the reserve game, 55-32.

South Side played without the services of regular center Cecil Frazier who is sidelined with a leg injury.

The Reds acquired him Tuesday in a deal with the Washington Senators that also brought outfielder Marty Keough to Cincinnati in exchange for catcher Bob Schmidt and pitcher Dave Stenhouse.

Klippstein, 34, was with the Reds from 1955-1958 when he was traded to Los Angeles.

Disclosure Of Dietzel As Army Coach Expected

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP)—Despite some opposition from the Louisiana State Board of Supervisors, Paul Dietzel is expected to leave the football power he built at LSU for a new challenge as head coach at Army.

Army, which hopes to make an announcement Thursday, is believed to have offered the former West Point aide a five-year contract at $20,000 a year. There also are the fringe benefits of attractive, free living quarters at the Point and post exchange and commissary privileges, probably worth another $5,000 a year.

Dietzel, 38, one of the nation's most successful young coaches, still has four years to go on his LSU contract at $18,500 a year. Jim Corbett, LSU athletic director, said the coach had not asked for his release, but indications were the request would be made today. The New Orleans States-Item said it had learned that Dietzel would fly to West Point Thursday.

Hereabouts, the trip is being pegged as an introduction of the new coach, who will succeed Dale Hall. Hall was fired after three years and three losses to Navy.

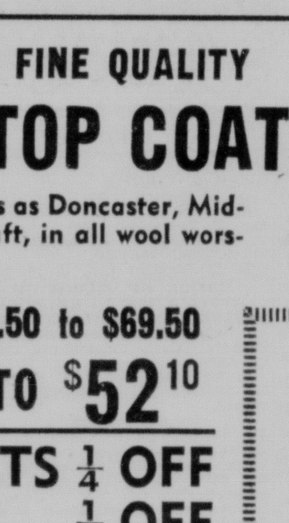

If and when Dietzel requests his release, sparks may fly in the bayou. The personable former assistant to Army's Earl Blaik built LSU into a perennial national power in a matter of three years.

Midland Opens Section 8 By Spilling Hopewell, 57-47

Game Marked By Brief Brawl; Aloi, Sallis, Forester Sparkle

By ANDY NUZZO

Hank Kuzma's Midland High School Leopards opened their 1962 Section 8 season on a winning note by defeating Hopewell, 57-47, before a full house at Hopewell Tuesday night.

The game was a rough one and at times resembled a gridiron struggle. Officials Joe Zerilla and John Richards let the game get out of hand and Kuzma repeatedly told them so during the contest.

A slight scuffle broke out near the close of the third quarter. It involved Rich Lake of Midland and Shane Fuller of Hopewell. Players rushed onto the floor, but the coaches and police stopped it before anything serious happened.

Along with his brother Ruben, Shane was involved in various incidents throughout the game. They played the game as if they were playing football.

The Leopards connected on 21 of 55 field goals for 38 per cent, while Hopewell dropped in 18 of 72 field goals for 25 per cent.

Al Aloi led the Leopards with 15, followed closely by Bill Sallis and Sam Forester with 14 and 13 points, respectively.

ALOI hit mostly with his jumper while Sallis and Forester did their damage under the boards.

Aloi hit nine of his 15 points in the first half while Forester led the second half surge scoring 11 of his 13 points in the last two stanzas. Sallis balanced his scoring over both halfs, scoring six in the first and eight in the second.

Ruben Fuller led the Viking with 19 points, mostly on lay-ups. Fred Milanovich added 15 to the Viking cause with soft jumpers from the corner.

Ohio Bell Slates Record Spending For '62 Program

CLEVELAND (AP)—Ohio Bell Telephone Co. will spend $11.3 million more in 1962 for capital improvements than the $75 million it spent last year, Walter Sparling, president of the utility said today.

Of the record-breaking $86.3 million total market for expenditure this year, $21 million is tagged for the Cleveland metropolitan area. A breakdown of the remaining $65.3 million to be spent in outlying counties will not be completed until later this month, company spokesman said.

Included in Ohio Bell's 1962 program of investment in greater Cleveland, where it expects to add 28,000 phones during 1962 to reach a total of 923,000, are expenditures of $8.8 million for new switchboards and special equipment; $6 million for dial equipment in local exchanges; $4.3 million for outside cables, and $1.5 million for a new exchange building at 20 West Bagley Road in suburban Berea.

Hitting Big-Time Operators Bob Kennedy's Big Pleasure

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of Robert F. Kennedy's biggest satisfactions in his first year as attorney general came from "hitting the big-time operators of organized crime in their bankroll," he said today.

The bankroll, he emphasized in an interview, consists of receipts from gambling.

Another source of pleasure in 1961, Kennedy said, was Justice Department activity to protect the rights of Negroes.

He said he was also pleased with the work of his 31,000-member department in enforcing antitrust laws and in less publicized fields ranging from tax law enforcement to representing the government in Indian claim cases.

The organized crime and civil rights fields were considered important enough to merit separate yearend reports to President Kennedy.

The attorney general cited the enactment of new antiracketeering legislation and the creation of an intelligence unit within the department's criminal division as major developments in the fight against crime.

One new law makes it a felony to transmit bets by interstate wire. Kennedy said this forced the majority of the nation's leading race wire services—basic to the operation of gambling syndicates—to close down. Among the casualties, he said, were two kingpins in the business, Nola News of New Orleans and Athletic Publications of Minneapolis.

Other new legislation bans interstate operations in transporting gambling material — including numbers slips, travel for criminal purposes and carrying weapons interstate after conviction of a felony.

Ohio Bell Slates Record Spending For '62 Program

CLEVELAND (AP)—Ohio Bell Telephone Co. will spend $11.3 million more in 1962 for capital improvements than the $75 million it spent last year, Walter Sparling, president of the utility said today.

Of the record-breaking $86.3 million total market for expenditure this year, $21 million is tagged for the Cleveland metropolitan area. A breakdown of the remaining $65.3 million to be spent in outlying counties will not be completed until later this month, company spokesman said.

Included in Ohio Bell's 1962 program of investment in greater Cleveland, where it expects to add 28,000 phones during 1962 to reach a total of 923,000, are expenditures of $8.8 million for new switchboards and special equipment; $6 million for dial equipment in local exchanges; $4.3 million for outside cables, and $1.5 million for a new exchange building at 20 West Bagley Road in suburban Berea.

Hitting Big-Time Operators Bob Kennedy's Big Pleasure

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of Robert F. Kennedy's biggest satisfactions in his first year as attorney general came from "hitting the big-time operators of organized crime in their bankroll," he said today.

The bankroll, he emphasized in an interview, consists of receipts from gambling.

Another source of pleasure in 1961, Kennedy said, was Justice Department activity to protect the rights of Negroes.

He said he was also pleased with the work of his 31,000-member department in enforcing antitrust laws and in less publicized fields ranging from tax law enforcement to representing the government in Indian claim cases.

The organized crime and civil rights fields were considered important enough to merit separate yearend reports to President Kennedy.

The attorney general cited the enactment of new antiracketeering legislation and the creation of an intelligence unit within the department's criminal division as major developments in the fight against crime.

One new law makes it a felony to transmit bets by interstate wire. Kennedy said this forced the majority of the nation's leading race wire services—basic to the operation of gambling syndicates—to close down. Among the casualties, he said, were two kingpins in the business, Nola News of New Orleans and Athletic Publications of Minneapolis.

Other new legislation bans interstate operations in transporting gambling material — including numbers slips, travel for criminal purposes and carrying weapons interstate after conviction of a felony.

Junior Editors Quiz on ANTS

QUESTION: Do ants sleep?

ANSWER: Ants are known as social insects. Their social ways greatly resemble the social ways of men. They live together in colonies, which can be compared to cities. Different ants in the same colony have different jobs to do. This corresponds to the division of labor among men.

But in many ways they are different from people. During the winter they retire into deep holes in the ground and huddle together. This is called hibernation. The ants are completely inactive during hibernation but it is not known for certain if they sleep or merely rest.

One thing is sure, however. They are not dead. When the warm spring days bring green grass and leaves and pretty flowers, the ants emerge from their winter homes and set about rebuilding their nests, gathering their food supply and all the other things ants do.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Each ant colony has three classes of inhabitants. They are the queens, the males and the workers. See if you can find out what jobs each of these classes performs.

★ ★ ★

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. Can you please advise me on the turning of men's shirt collars?

A. An easy way to accomplish this is to rip the collar off at the seam where the band and collar join, not where the band joins the shirt. Then turn and sew it back without the trouble of making a new buttonhole on the band.

Hospital To Get Aide

Ministerial Group Adopts Rules For Chaplain's Post

Plans for providing a resident chaplain at City Hospital were advanced by the East Liverpool Ministerial Association at a meeting Tuesday at the First Methodist Church.

The association adopted a comprehensive report of rules and regulations covering the proposed chaplaincy. The report was presented by the Rev. Albert J. Rodenhausen of the First Baptist Church, hospital committee chairman.

The report also is under consideration by the Chester, Newell, Wellsville and Midland ministerial groups.

The report lists the responsibilities and duties of the chaplain, which include acting as a liaison between the patient and his pastor, informing the patient's pastor of his admittance to the hospital, offering spiritual counsel when requested and keeping goodwill between the pastor and patient and hospital and patient.

The association will seek the financial assistance of Protestant churches in Chester, Newell, Wellsville and Midland in the project. The chaplain will be paid by the association. The amount and method will be determined by the chaplaincy committee.

The chaplaincy committee will be made up of one representative from each co-operating ministerial association, and the president and secretary of the East Liverpool group. At present, the committee would include seven persons.

The chaplain will be responsible to the chaplaincy committee and is to be inderdenominational and impartial.

In other business, the Rev. Carl Beighley of the Calvary Methodist Church was elected vice president. John Mostoller, minister of the First Church of Christ, is president. He welcomed the Rev. Robert Helfrich, pastor of the Gardendale Church of the Nazarene, and the Rev. James G. Douglass of the Sheridan Ave. African Methodist Episcopal Church into the membership.

A discussion was held on a proposal for the formation of an association of laymen of various congregations to handle matters of social responsibility and public morality.

The association also would handle special community services, such as a community carol sing and Youth Week. The association feels the group would offer laymen the opportunity to work together on civic issues as interested Christians.

The executive committee will set up a meeting for further discussion on the proposal.

The next meeting will be Monday, Feb. 5, at 10 a. m. at St. John's Lutheran Church, according to the Rev. Charles W. Kampmeyer, secretary.

Ohio Bell Displays Punch Card Dialing

CLEVELAND (AP)—This spring some Ohio Bell Telephone Co. subscribers may feed a plastic punch card into telephones to make them dial.

The punch card phone was displayed Tuesday at the company's annual exposition of things to come. The user of such a phone will perforate frequently called numbers into a card that can be kept on file. To call a certain number, he merely pokes the right card into a slot, pushes a button and the phone does the rest.

This phone also will have a dial, but the card operation is much faster than mechanical dialing. It probably will be used in business places at first and cost an additional $3 monthly.

Walter S. Sparling, company president, said the punch - card phone is the first of many such advances that will result in electronic dialing in Cleveland by 1966.

SPRING AIR. Fashion enters the spring scene like a lady in a handsome nubby beige Swiss cotton, shaped on straight and narrow lines in an understated look. Weirton Man Named In Sewer Pipe Post STEUBENVILLE — Charles S. Bunch, owner of a building block manufacturing plant in Weirton, has been named vice president in charge of outside sales for the Central Sewer Pipe & Supply Co.

The appointment, effective Tuesday, was announced by John C. Bates, president.

Bunch will retain his firm in Weirton, which he organized in June 1946. He is vice president and part owner of the Bunch Farms, Inc. of Reydel, Ark.

Bunch is a son-in-law of the late Charles D. Simeral, who was former owner and editor of the Steubenville Herald-Star.

Parker Fined $2

LISBON — Richard J. Gostey, 19, of Leetonia R.D. was fined $2 and costs Tuesday by County Judge James L. MacDonald when he pleaded guilty of parking on a highway. He was cited by the State Highway Patrol.

U.S. To Airlift 3 More Battle Units To Germany

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Affairs Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The posting of two more U.S. Army battle groups in Germany will provide the makings of an air-transportable brigade that could deal with trouble in the Middle East, Africa or elsewhere.

The Army high command has wanted for some time to create independent brigades in West Germany and on Okinawa for such a purpose. The Okinawa-based brigade would be intended for use in the Far East and Southeast Asia.

The Pentagon announced Tuesday that three battle groups of the 4th Infantry Division, totaling about 6,000 men, will be airlifted to Germany for a NATO exercise from Jan. 16 to Feb. 12.

Two battle groups will remain there after the end of operation "Long Thrust II" for additional training as elements of the Army Strategic Reserve in Europe. The third will return to Ft. Lewis, Wash.

Later, reportedly after several months, the two battle groups will be rotated back to the United States and replaced by other units of the 4th Division. In all, the 4th Infantry has five battle groups.

The Defense Department said these elements would be available for use in an emergency.

Funds for two independent trouble-shooting brigades are said to be included in the new defense budget soon to go to Congress.

Army leaders have been thinking in terms of paratroop units for such an assignment.

Sources indicate the battle groups to be sent to Germany later this month might be used as an interim "fire brigade."

They noted that although these are conventional infantry, they can be lifted quickly over thousands of miles.

The battle groups being moved to Europe will take no dependents.

Razing Of Ceramic To Finish This Week

The M. & S. Wrecking Co. of Youngstown expects to finish work by this weekend on razing the Ceramic Theater and leveling the site, Council President Robert Owen, acting mayor, reported today.

The demolition project has been under way about two months. The exterior walls are down to ground level and the contractor is working now at scooping up the rubble with a highlift and hauling it away in trucks.

In the next phase of the project to convert the site into a municipal parking lot, the city will arrange for blacktop surfacing and installation of parking meters. The cost is covered by a municipal bond issue that is scheduled to be retired by revenue from the parking operation.

Takes Over Hospital

CINCINNATI (AP) — The University of Cincinnati has officially taken over operation of the city's sprawling General Hospital.

Senecaville Man Named New Ohio Commerce Chief

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Robert T. Secrest of Senecaville is the new Ohio commerce director, succeeding Rankin M. Gibson who was appointed to the utilities commission.

Appointment of the former 15th District congressman from Guernsey County to the $14,000-a-year commerce post was announced by Gov. Michael V. DiSalle Tuesday shortly after Gibson's shift was made public.

Secrest, 57, will assume office Jan. 15. John Hull, deputy commerce director, will be acting director in the meantime.

Secrest, born in Senecaville, served seven years (1954-61) as a member of the Federal Trade Commission. He won election as a Democrat to the state legislature in 1930 and to Congress in 1932. He resigned as congressman in 1942 to enlist in the Navy. He was a commander when discharged in 1946. Re-elected to Congress in 1946, he remained until former President Eisenhower named him to the trade commission.

Secrest, who is married and has three children, was principal of Senecaville High School for 4 ½ years and superintendent of Murray City schools two years. He has degrees from Muskingum College, Washington College (law) and Columbia University (masters, political science).

The report lists the responsibilities and duties of the chaplain, which include acting as a liaison between the patient and his pastor, informing the patient's pastor of his admittance to the hospital, offering spiritual counsel when requested and keeping goodwill between the pastor and patient and hospital and patient.

The association will seek the financial assistance of Protestant churches in Chester, Newell, Wellsville and Midland in the project. The chaplain will be paid by the association. The amount and method will be determined by the chaplaincy committee.

The chaplaincy committee will be made up of one representative from each co-operating ministerial association, and the president and secretary of the East Liverpool group. At present, the committee would include seven persons.

The chaplain will be responsible to the chaplaincy committee and is to be inderdenominational and impartial.

In other business, the Rev. Carl Beighley of the Calvary Methodist Church was elected vice president. John Mostoller, minister of the First Church of Christ, is president. He welcomed the Rev. Robert Helfrich, pastor of the Gardendale Church of the Nazarene, and the Rev. James G. Douglass of the Sheridan Ave. African Methodist Episcopal Church into the membership.

A discussion was held on a proposal for the formation of an association of laymen of various congregations to handle matters of social responsibility and public morality.

The association also would handle special community services, such as a community carol sing and Youth Week. The association feels the group would offer laymen the opportunity to work together on civic issues as interested Christians.

The executive committee will set up a meeting for further discussion on the proposal.

The next meeting will be Monday, Feb. 5, at 10 a. m. at St. John's Lutheran Church, according to the Rev. Charles W. Kampmeyer, secretary.

Ohio Bell Displays Punch Card Dialing

CLEVELAND (AP)—This spring some Ohio Bell Telephone Co. subscribers may feed a plastic punch card into telephones to make them dial.

The punch card phone was displayed Tuesday at the company's annual exposition of things to come. The user of such a phone will perforate frequently called numbers into a card that can be kept on file. To call a certain number, he merely pokes the right card into a slot, pushes a button and the phone does the rest.

This phone also will have a dial, but the card operation is much faster than mechanical dialing. It probably will be used in business places at first and cost an additional $3 monthly.

Walter S. Sparling, company president, said the punch - card phone is the first of many such advances that will result in electronic dialing in Cleveland by 1966.

2 Of Groups Will Remain

U.S. To Airlift 3 More Battle Units To Germany

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Affairs Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The posting of two more U.S. Army battle groups in Germany will provide the makings of an air-transportable brigade that could deal with trouble in the Middle East, Africa or elsewhere.

The Army high command has wanted for some time to create independent brigades in West Germany and on Okinawa for such a purpose. The Okinawa-based brigade would be intended for use in the Far East and Southeast Asia.

The Pentagon announced Tuesday that three battle groups of the 4th Infantry Division, totaling about 6,000 men, will be airlifted to Germany for a NATO exercise from Jan. 16 to Feb. 12.

Two battle groups will remain there after the end of operation "Long Thrust II" for additional training as elements of the Army Strategic Reserve in Europe. The third will return to Ft. Lewis, Wash.

Later, reportedly after several months, the two battle groups will be rotated back to the United States and replaced by other units of the 4th Division. In all, the 4th Infantry has five battle groups.

The Defense Department said these elements would be available for use in an emergency.

Funds for two independent trouble-shooting brigades are said to be included in the new defense budget soon to go to Congress.

Army leaders have been thinking in terms of paratroop units for such an assignment.

Sources indicate the battle groups to be sent to Germany later this month might be used as an interim "fire brigade."

They noted that although these are conventional infantry, they can be lifted quickly over thousands of miles.

The battle groups being moved to Europe will take no dependents.

Razing Of Ceramic To Finish This Week

The M. & S. Wrecking Co. of Youngstown expects to finish work by this weekend on razing the Ceramic Theater and leveling the site, Council President Robert Owen, acting mayor, reported today.

The demolition project has been under way about two months. The exterior walls are down to ground level and the contractor is working now at scooping up the rubble with a highlift and hauling it away in trucks.

In the next phase of the project to convert the site into a municipal parking lot, the city will arrange for blacktop surfacing and installation of parking meters. The cost is covered by a municipal bond issue that is scheduled to be retired by revenue from the parking operation.

Senecaville Man Named New Ohio Commerce Chief

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Robert T. Secrest of Senecaville is the new Ohio commerce director, succeeding Rankin M. Gibson who was appointed to the utilities commission.

Appointment of the former 15th District congressman from Guernsey County to the $14,000-a-year commerce post was announced by Gov. Michael V. DiSalle Tuesday shortly after Gibson's shift was made public.

Secrest, 57, will assume office Jan. 15. John Hull, deputy commerce director, will be acting director in the meantime.

Secrest, born in Senecaville, served seven years (1954-61) as a member of the Federal Trade Commission. He won election as a Democrat to the state legislature in 1930 and to Congress in 1932. He resigned as congressman in 1942 to enlist in the Navy. He was a commander when discharged in 1946. Re-elected to Congress in 1946, he remained until former President Eisenhower named him to the trade commission.

Secrest, who is married and has three children, was principal of Senecaville High School for 4 ½ years and superintendent of Murray City schools two years. He has degrees from Muskingum College, Washington College (law) and Columbia University (masters, political science).

It may be a lifesaver

■ A home without basic first-aid supplies is in a dangerous position. Accidents can happen at any time. We'll be glad to suggest an inexpensive assortment of first-aid needs . . . gauze, tape, antiseptic, burn ointment, etc. But remember, though first aid can save lives, it's often important to follow up with a visit to your doctor. Only he is qualified to judge the seriousness of an injury and prescribe proper medical care.
